
FOR THE ENGAGED GIRL

Unique Ways of Announcing the Secret of Her Happiness.

It is becoming more and more the fashion for an engaged girl to announce the great secret of her happiness to her friends at a luncheon or dinner. This breaking of the news is often done in a formal way, either by the girl herself or her parents, which on being opened were found to contain the announcement in the shape of a linerick. There are charming decorations for the table of the prospective bride. Candle shades in a dainty design, covered with dainty rose patterned paper, are edged with silver bead fringe. A cup for serving tea rests in the heart of a white crane rose. Two styles of place cards are shown; one represents a bridal slipper covered with white crane paper and decorated with silver filigree. It has an easel back, which enables it to stand upright. The second design is in the form of a cupid cut from white parents, but it is much lovelier to convey the news with a unique touch. A clever girl recently announced her engagement at a luncheon party by having a telegram brought in by the maid to one of the guests in the secret. When opened it was found to contain the news of the betrothal amusingly

Stuck in the top of each envelope containing the name of the girl and her fiancé, each name written on a small silver paper heart joined by a silver dart piercing the two. A novel favor receptacle for an engagement luncheon or a wedding breakfast represents a cardboard and bearing in his hands a silver filigree heart. At the back is a small tab of cardboard which slips over the edge of the water glass. These decorations are easily made and may be used with equal appropriateness for the bride's table, at a wedding breakfast or supper.

THE CURE OF FRECKLES

A Hint or Two For the Open Air Girl's Preservation of Her Complexion.

To the open air girl the difficulties connected with the preservation of the complexion during the summer months are many, but they are by no means insurmountable. With a little care and forethought one may play tennis and boat and yet keep a peachlike complexion, but day by day each little blemish caused by exposure to the sun must be removed, for if left until the season is over the chance of entirely removing it will be much smaller, the progress much longer.

The surest way of preventing the skin from becoming permanently tanned is the use of the following lotion night and morning: Take two ounces of fresh lemon juice, half a dram of powdered borax and one dram of sugar. Mix together and allow it to stand for twelve hours; then rub on the face or hands as required, night and morning, after washing. Let the cream on the skin for a few minutes, wiping off carefully with a soft chambray leather and dusting lightly with a good toilet powder. Bathing the face frequently with elder flower water is an old fashioned remedy.

A girl who suffers much from tan, which, instead of becoming a brownish tint, makes her look bilious, finds that she can keep her skin comparatively white and also remove tan after a day in the open air by bathing with water in which enough benzoin has been used to give it a milky look.

The cure of freckles is by no means so easy as that of sunburn, but an inexpensive cream can be made at home which, if persevered with, will remove freckles of long standing.

Take four ounces of pure olive oil, two small cucumbers and slice up the latter without peeling them. Place the oil in an earthenware jar and heat it thoroughly. Put the sliced cucumbers in the oil and let them stand for twenty-four hours. Strain through muslin and pour in small ointment pots, covering with preservative paper. When using rub carefully into that portion of the skin where the freckles appear and leave on for a few minutes while dressing in the morning, wiping off afterward with a cloth. Apply at bedtime and leave on all night.

Sunburned hands may be bleached at night by the use of a paste made by mixing two teaspoonsful of almond oil with the same quantity each of finely sifted oatmeal and powdered borax. Beat all into a paste and smear over the hands, covering them with a pair of old, loose fitting gloves.

Although the sun and wind have an injurious effect upon the complexion, they act as an excellent tonic to the hair, and the summer girl who wishes to brighten her tresses and increase their growth will do well to expose them as much as possible to the rays of the sun. A celebrated beauty whose hair is much admired confided to me the secret of her treatment of it. Every day, weather permitting, she sits with her hair loosely shaken down and her back to the open window, allowing the sun and air to play upon her hair for at least a half hour, often longer, and she attributes its growth and the beautiful bright lights in it.

Too free a use of water has been known to cause baldness. Immersion

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

BUILT-IN SCREENS.

Many of the new houses are being built with screens attached to the window frames, which slide down into a casing out of sight in winter and can be raised and lowered by automatically pressing a button.

A SEWING TIP.

Why not keep a pair of tweezers in the workbasket? You have no idea how useful they are to pull out stubborn ends of busting cotton, particularly when the machine stitching has run over the button. Such accidents are very frequent, no matter how careful the seamstress may be, and the tweezers will really prove of great assistance.

QUAINT LITTLE CLOCK.

An odd little clock is in the form of a crystal ball suspended by a leather strap to the top of a shirtup iron. The iron, which is really of silver or gun metal, stands on the desk or dresser on the metal base on which the foot rests when one rides, and the clock swings from its tiny leather strap. This would make an ideal gift for the girl who rides and drives and loves horses.

RACK FOR LIDS.

The tidy housekeeper finds the many lids of pots, pans and kettles needed in the kitchen a problem to arrange with any degree of order and neatness. They cannot be hung up, many of them, owing to the shape, will not fit in a pile, and they are woefully unsightly in the dresser drawers.

A bright woman to whom the lids were as the hosts of the evening has now solved the question in a way both easy and inexpensive.

She got a length of strong wire, stretched it across the pots and pans shelf by means of a couple of nails, and on this the lids accompanying all the cooking utensils are neatly arranged. The wire supports them perfectly, and the even row of shiny tin things is by no means unornamental. In addition to its handiness.

ICE CREAM LOOKED GOOD.

The young man in the new summer suit who had just ordered maple nut sundae for two at a drug store proceeded to be entertaining.

"Did you ever notice how styles in goods change in a drug store, just as they do in a dry goods shop? In patent medicines everything is guaranteed in summer to relieve that tired feeling while in the winter it was something to cure your cough and keep your blood up. At the toilet counter it was cold cream for chapped hands and face and now it's stuff to keep your hair in curl or stunning bottles of cologne water for hot weather baths. And there where you see tables and chairs was the old candy counter. They clear all that away in hot weather—no money in candy for the druggist in summer. Even the soda fountain signs are changed and suggest tinkling ice instead of nourishing drinks."

"I never noticed, no," said the girl, as she dipped her spoon into the toothsome sundae, the offering of the young man in the linen coat. "Ice cream looks good to me the whole year round."

"MY own experience leads me to believe that the picture postal craze can be made to pay the expenses of a vacation in almost any part of the United States," said an energetic woman. "With the aid of an inexpensive camera I am able to pay for my summer outing each year and to see parts of the country that would be impossible to me otherwise."

"My method is this: I set out with money enough to pay for a ticket to any portion of the country I want to explore and a little extra cash to carry me over a week or two. After leaving the train I wander about the town or resort, 'snapping' all the places of interest, beauty spots, and so on. These films I develop at once and with them make a tour of the different hotels and boarding houses, offering to make picture postals of any view at so much a dozen or a hundred. As a general thing I find the proprietors interested at once, in which case I get a nice little order for the use of the guests of the establishment for advertising purposes."

"This, of course, is done by means of the sensitized postals, which I buy by the gross. I print mine by the lamp at night. There is a special machine which comes for the purpose by which a large number can be stamped out one after the other. I intend to have a machine in the near future, but for the present the lamp, though slower, serves my turn."

"After having exhausted the hotel at I want to remain in the hotel, I have recourse to private houses. If I see a happy group on the porch of a country seat or a cottage I walk up and ask if they would not like to be photographed on picture postals. Usually I get an order, either large or small. Then private patrons will ask to have their houses taken if they don't wish to be photographed themselves or a baby or a pet horse or dog. I take a number of plates around the house or of any subject indicated and make prints of the best. Usually the customer is pleased with two or three, and will order postals made from these."

"It is an agreeable way of traveling for people who are almost invariably interested and kind to the traveling photographer, at least when all the stage, at home and when all expense of films, sensitized postals, etc., is deducted. I always find myself in the good, both in point of pocketbook and health."

OBSERVATIONS OF LA MODE

LATEST of all in skirts is the "fishwife" drape. It is intended especially for the less strenuous forms of sport, such as tennis, which demand a trim, businesslike appearance, but not such extreme styles as are sometimes used for horseback riding or any gymnastic efforts.

In the "fishwife" an overskirt is turned up above the knee and bunched in the back, usually fastening with two immense buttons. Below is worn a simple skirt attached to a yoke.

If you are a young girl and wish to be up to date, save your pennies to buy a belt buckle in Dutch silver. It is the present aspiration of every girl.

These buckles vary from six to eight inches long and three to four wide and are handsomely carved. Some are provided with slides, but the majority have prongs through which the belt is drawn. To avoid making the beltting ragged where it is pulled through it is well to punch eyelets and overcast them.

A surprise has come to light in the new cravat which has appeared to add to the myriads already at the disposal of madams. This latest addition is intended to wear with simple collarless gowns, and the new bit of neckwear is nothing more or less than a leather dog collar.

It takes the place of the broad band of velvet ribbon allowable in the evening, but not in the morning, and if it does not fulfill its promise to protect the delicate throat during a morning's shopping tour it is at least one of fashion's fads.

The center parting of the hair with the wide Recamier chignon and wide puffs at the sides comport well with the big millinery of the day. Women with small delicate features find it especially becoming. The ears are hidden under the side arrangement, and the hair at the back is loosely twisted at the nape of the neck or else just below the crown, according to its becomingness.

Quite the smartest thing in veils is of Russian net with big double chenille dots.

The linens and muslins are delightful this season and come in most attractive colors. They make serviceable and dainty tub frocks, as Dame Fashion is pleased to call all things washable.

A dainty chic little collar and cuff set of sheer batiste and Irish lace was edged with a tiny, fine hemstitched plaiting of the batiste.

Another novelty is added to the long list of odd designs in fancy footwear. This latest acquisition is a black patent leather slipper with a medallion on the toe and a Louis heel of tiny black and gold checks.

The most convenient handkerchief for traveling is the tiny one that will go up the sleeve or into the palm of the glove. Such a handkerchief is nothing at all

Every bit of information you absorb will come in handy some day.

Originality is a quality that cannot be too much cultivated in the growing child.

Our mode of life, our school system, everything tends to stifle and engulf this quality.

And yet without it what are we? The individual without originality is one of the crowd of commonplace people who are driven by the lash of some one else's brain.

He cannot think for himself, and consequently he can never lead, but must be driven by some one who has the gift.

You may know ever so much in this world, but if you have not the art of arriving at your own deductions you are more ignorant than the little street arab who can plan for himself and size up a situation without help.

If there is one thing that makes me tired above all others it is when I read some minister's opinions in print about matters of which he is absolutely ignorant.

A minister is a fine man in his place, but he is not fitted to settle the affairs of the world at so many dollars a column.

And, besides, it occurs to me there should be enough work in an earnest man's church to take up all his time.

Why don't the ministers' wives do the writing for them? They could do it just as well, and during that time the pastor himself could be attending to his flock.

IN THE COOKERY WORLD.

Pineapple Punch.—Peel, remove the eyes, then chop finely one ripe pineapple, pour over it one pint of boiling water and allow to stand until cold. Strain and press it to extract as much juice as possible. Add half as much cherry or raspberry juice, the juice of two lemons and a sirup made by boiling a pound of sugar with a pint and a half of water. Before serving add the bottle of mineral water.

Sherry Shortlet.—Peel and remove the eyes from a large pineapple, then chop very fine, add one pound of sugar and mix well together. Add two pints of water, the juice of two lemons and one orange and leave in a cool place for two hours. Strain and freeze in a "bombe" or better. Stir in a tablespoonful of whipping cream, gradually adding three tablespoonsful of sugar. Finish the freezing, then rapack and let it stand for two hours till firm.

Raspberry Pudding.—Butter a pudding dish, line the sides and bottom with breadcrumbs, stew one pint of raspberries with two tablespoonsful of sugar and one tablespoonful of cold water, pour the stewed fruit into the pudding dish and cover with breadcrumbs. Bake a custard with a pint of milk and the yolks of three eggs, pour over the breadcrumbs and bake in the oven till browned. Whip the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, flavor them with sugar and vanilla extract, pile this on the top of the pudding and place in the oven for a few minutes. This makes a good cold pudding when it may be baked in a mold and whipped cream used in the place of the whites of eggs.

Frozen Coffee.—Put three tablespoonsful of coffee and a quart of rich milk in a double boiler and let steep for half an hour. Strain and add one generous cupful of sugar. When cool stir in two tablespoonsful of vanilla and freeze. Serve alone or with whipped cream.

Orange Ice.—Put a tablespoonful of gelatin to soak in a pint of cold water. Add a pint of boiling water, one cupful of sugar and the strained juice of six oranges. If this does not make a quart in all add sufficient cold water. Freeze as for ice cream.

MRS. HALE TELLS A GOOD STORY.

Louise Closser Hale, author of the new novel "The Actress," attributes most of the enjoyment to be got out of life to a capacity for seeing the joke when it is on oneself, and she has a sense of humor which is quite equal to any strain in that direction.

"While I was writing 'The Actress,'" Mrs. Hale said recently, "I was touring England part of the time, and I often wished I could put my various landladies of the 'Holidays' in which we lived into my book. They knew very little of Americans and expected us all to talk through our noses. 'She speaks quite nicely, doesn't she?' said one landlady to my washerwoman right before my face. Another, after I had put on the miserable rags that the forlorn bride, Miss Haze, wears in 'Mrs. Wages of the Cabbage Patch,' had occasion to come to the theater to bring a novel and viewed me with much satisfaction. 'Now you are something like it,' was her statement, which was too frank with dire suggestion to require any further words."

NIGHT EDITION

POLICE OFFICIAL

Chicago Officer Indicted by the Grand Jury

CHICAGO, July 24.—Police Inspector McCann was indicted today charged with malfeasance in office in the alleged collecting of "protection" money from illegal establishments of the West End "Tenderloin."

McCann's predicament was foreshadowed yesterday when an indictment was returned against Detective Sergeant Jeremiah Griffin, alleged to have been the collection agent working out of McCann's office.

Half a dozen witnesses testified before the grand jury. It was stated in this testimony that Griffin harvested as high as $9000 a month most of which went to men "higher up." The aggregate collected under this system is said to be $150,000.

Vice of every sort including the selling of cocaine is alleged to have been protected.

The indictment against the inspector contains ten counts, five charging malfeasance in office and five charging the acceptance of bribes.

Besides McCann and Griffin four others are under indictment in the case. They are Louis Frank, said to be a millionaire who has always been politically potent in the "levee" district of the West Side; Michael Heitler, otherwise known as "Mike the Pike"; Morris Shantz, who is said to have confessed as to underlying details of the alleged graft and M. A. Sanchez who is charged with collecting money on the pretext that he would secure protection.

Inspector McCann has been with the police department for a generation, rising from the ranks to his present position. He declares the charges come from a powerful clique which despairing of forcing him to protect vice, has determined to ruin him.

JOHN J. BURNS

Nominated to the Police Board
by Mayor Brown

Mr. John J. Burns of the Gilbride company has been appointed to the police board by Mayor Brown and has accepted. The appointment was made today and Mr. Burns qualified for the position before City Clerk Danahy at the latter's office at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The appointment of Mr. Burns substitutes the appointment of Hon. Charles S. Liley, who declined the appointment. The following is a copy of the mayor's letter of appointment to Mr. Burns:

Executive Department,
July 24, 1909.
John J. Burns, 607 Westford St., Lowell, Mass.
I have this day appointed you to be a member of the board of police of the city of Lowell, representing the democratic party, to serve for the unexpired term, the position made vacant by removal of Thomas P. Boulger, July 16, 1909.

If you accept this appointment you will notify me and proceed to the city

JOHN J. BURNS

Clerks office to qualify and then present this commission of appointment to the clerk of the board of police. Have same transcribed on the record.

Respectfully yours,
George H. Brown,
Mayor.

ADMIRAL MOORE RETIRED

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Rear Admiral Edwin Moore, commander of the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H., was placed on the retired list of the navy today on account of old age after about 47 years' service. He is from Ohio and entered the navy in October, 1864.

By his retirement Capt. Thomas S. Phelps, commanding the Mare island navy yard, becomes rear admiral; Commander W. S. Benson, chief of staff of the Pacific fleet, a captain; and Commander Marley, a commodore and Lieut. Overstreet, a lieutenant commander.

TAX RATE $13.20

Chelmsford in Good Luck This Year

The tax rate of the town of Chelmsford was announced today as $13.25. The Sun yesterday predicted that there would be a reduction of at least 20 cents, and the assessors went The Sun's guess 20 cents better, for last year's rate was $13.50.

GIRL KILLED

She Was Shot by a Boy

SOUTHBURY, Conn., July 24.—Mary Ludruff, aged 16, was shot and killed by a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle which Edward Forbes, aged 14, of Shelton, has just loaded today. The medical examiner made a finding of accidental death at the hands of this girl's brother, but later he ascertained that the Forbes boy had the rifle at the time.

MISS HOFFMAN

Actress Was Arraigned in Court

NEW YORK, July 24.—Gertrude Hoffman, the dancer, was arraigned in police court today and paroled until next Tuesday when the court will take up the question of whether or not her performance at a local theatre is "indecent, suggestive and immoral and offensive to public decency," as the complaint charged. The court directed that during the interval Miss Hoffman must not be molested.

Her case hinges upon whether or not the dance proper to her end at the theatre, where the police official who made the arrest declared Miss Hoffman's conclude.

Later today the fact developed that the arrest of Miss Hoffman last night after the performance resulted from orders issued by Police Commissioner Baker. The commissioner said that he had directed the arrest after he had witnessed Miss Hoffman's performance last night.

75 YEARS OLD

CARDINAL GIBBONS OBSERVES HIS ANNIVERSARY

BALTIMORE, July 24.—Cardinal Gibbons observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday. He celebrated mass of thanksgiving and then held an informal reception at the Episcopal Palace. During the day he received many congratulatory telegrams and letters from clergies and laymen in all parts of the United States.

The cardinal was born of Irish parents in Baltimore. He received a liberal education in Ireland and in 1857 graduated from St. Charles college, Maryland. He was ordained a priest in 1861 by Archbishop Kenrick. He was made a bishop April 16, 1885, and became occupant of the see of Richmond in 1872. On February 10, 1878, he was installed as archbishop. He was given the red hat on March 17, 1887. His influence at the Vatican has always been very large in American church affairs.

Old employees of the Tremont and Suffolk mills state that the plant for years has not been as busy as it is at the present time for about 1800 looms are running and the mill is working night and day. One great improvement and an innovation in the mill brought about by Agent Connell was the establishment of the bleaching in connection with the mill. Formerly the cloth was sent out to be bleached but now it is done on the ground. The best evidence of the success of Agent Connell's idea is the fact that the company is putting in two more great bleaching vats.

Councilman Davis Not in Favor of Seizing or Buying Land—Thinks
View of Textile School is Not Worth
$3000

Alderman Connors and Councilman Davis, the sub-committee appointed by the joint special committee on the purchase or seizure of the land at the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets, met at the city hall this forenoon and went out, not in a taxicab, but a plain, everyday carriage, to interview the Locks and Canals and Omer Deziel. Mr. Deziel claims to own the land, but as far as the committee has been able to find out no lease has passed from the Locks and Canals to Deziel. The latter asks $1 a foot for the land. He says he paid 75 cents a foot to the Locks and Canals. The property is assessed for 40 cents a foot.

Councilman Davis is not in favor of the city either purchasing or seizing the land. Even though the city should take it over at its assessed rate, the land would cost $3000 or $4000. "Of course it would spoil the view of the textile school," said Councilman Davis, "but I don't think the view is worth $2000 to the city. I can't see it."

Chief Engineer E. S. Hooper of the fire department and Humphrey O'Sullivan of this city are two of the men recommended by the Lawrence Veterans Firemen's association for judges at the New England league muster on Aug. 19, the others being Leroy Whitman of Cranston, R. I., Patrick Manning of Amesbury, Wm. S. Eakin of Albion, R. I., Harry Merrill of Manchester, John A. Stevens of Springfield, Capt. Geo. H. Remick of Lawrence. Lawrence is warming up to the big event and is planning on a great time.

SCHOONER RELEASED
HYANNIS, July 24.—The schooner Speculator of Hyannis which grounded on the west side of the harbor Thursday night was anchored just inside the breakwater today, having successfully released herself at high water late last night. She apparently sustained but little if any damage.

WITHDRAWN FROM SERVICE
WASHINGTON, July 24.—Hazel Lee, light vessel number 50 stationed in Narragansett sound, Massachusetts, will be temporarily withdrawn from service about Aug. 1. Her station will be taken by relief light vessel number 66 which will show lights and sound five signals having the same characteristics. Number 66 will be overhauled and replaced on station about August 26.

KENTON, Wis., July 24.—Nine hundred men returned to work this morning at the Allen quarry. It is thought the strike while not settled is practically over.

REPORT IS DENIED
LIMA, Peru, July 24.—The report published yesterday that diplomatic relations between Peru and Bolivia had been broken off and that Senor Polo the Peruvian minister was preparing to leave Lima was denied in reliable quarters here today. U. S. Minister (Crombie) and Foreign Minister Torres yesterday signed a naturalization convention.

SPANISH PRESS
SAYS GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE THE INITIATIVE

MADRID, July 24.—The governmental press today insists that the government should take the initiative in the war now going on between Spaniards and Kabyle tribesmen on the Rif coast and clear the entire region of Cape Tres as far as the Algerian frontier in order to guarantee security in future for Spanish subjects. The Imperial says the government in order to calm the agitation of the people should allow the married residents to remain in the garibons at home.

MIS HARNED INJURED
ATHOL, July 24.—Virginia Harned, wife of E. H. Southern, lost control of a spirited horse she was driving yesterday, and the animal dashed down Main street, with the actress vainly trying to check its flight.

After several people had failed to stop the horse Harry S. Ryan caught the bridle and held on, being dragged thirty yards before stopping the horse. Miss Harned was very pale, but was able to thank Ryan for his bravery.

VALUABLE HORSE
DUNSTABLE MAN HAD TO KILL HIM

Joseph Labine lost a valuable horse at his farm in Dunstable, Mass., yesterday. The horse was drawing a mowing machine with another horse when the reins became tangled and the horse unmanageable. It swerved and came in contact with the knives of the cutter bar, its legs were seriously cut, and it was later necessary to shoot the animal.

THAT COMFORT STATION
The committee on comfort station, Alderman Stevens, chairman, Alderman Dexter and Councilmen Mahoney, Ranlett and Boudreau will meet at City hall Monday afternoon, and will view the proposed site for the comfort station at the corner of Bridge and Paige streets.

GREAT INCREASE

In the Output of the Dominion
Coal Company

GLACE BAY, N. S., July 24.—The output of a house occupied by a miner who at whose collieries the strike has been in progress for a week and a half, on strike exploded and tore away a portion of the corner of the house. No one was injured.

A proposition which has been advanced that the local branches of the United Mine Workers and the Provincial Workmen's association should dissolve and unite in a new national union and make a new agreement with the company has not been favorably received by either side.

At tomorrow's meeting of the Trades and Labor council definite action will be taken relative to the observance of Labor day. On account of the auto races the Trades and Labor council has proceeded slowly in regard to the observance of Labor's great holiday as it does not wish to conflict with the great event. It is probable, however, that the unions will arrange some formal observance of the day in cooperation with the carnival committee.

FATE OF BROCKTON MAN

QUINCY, July 24.—Considerable anxiety was expressed here today regarding the fate of Edward Henry, a Brockton shoe worker, who sailed from this city on Sunday last in a small yacht of his own construction for Cape Cod. He was to have picked up his wife at some point along the coast but failed to meet her and no word has been received from him. His family and friends fear that his boat which he called the Elizabeth W. was lost in a squall Sunday night.

TO ASK FOR PARDON

TANGIER, Morocco, July 24.—News received here today from Fez says that the sultan Mulai Hafid's situation is better. Previous reports said that Mulai Hafid was manifestly helpless and a prisoner in the capitol and Mulai Elkebir, brother of the sultan who had been proclaimed sultan at Zenar was advancing at the head of a large force at Mequinez. The viziers are returning to their allegiance and some of the rebel tribes are disposed to ask for pardon.

LYNN POLICE ACTIVE

LYNN, July 24.—The police today were in connection with the Philadelphia officers in an effort to locate Vahan Nalbandian, the Armenian, who is wanted in connection with the killing of Minos Morjian in Nalbandian's room. Nalbandian was known to have a number of friends in Philadelphia. The police still hold to the accidental theory today. They say that they have positive information that they belonged to an Armenian secret society.

"MIKE" DONLIN

Made Manager of the Philadel-

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—An announcement was made today that Felix Isman, the well known real estate operator had purchased an interest in the Philadelphia National league baseball club and that Manager Murray's resignation had been asked for because he would not consent to have Mike Donlin made manager and member of the team.

Mr. Murray is a stockholder in the club and therefore has a voice in the question of management, although he is in the minority. Mr. Isman said he acquired his interest in the club yesterday, and advanced the Donlin proposition to Mr. Murray, who promptly declined to entertain it. His resignation was then called for. Mr. Isman said, and failing to present it, the matter was discussed. Mr. Isman further said that Donlin would succeed Mr. Murray as captain and manager as the majority of stockholders had agreed to this. Beyond this simple statement that he had acquired an interest in the club yesterday, Mr. Isman declined to discuss the matter.

MURDER REVEALED

By Finding of Man's Body in Hotel in Cambridge

WELL SPOKEN OF

EAST GARINER, July 21.—Stewart McTavis, whose body was found in Cambridge yesterday under suspicious circumstances as to the manner of his death, was employed as a janitor at the state hospital for the last 10 years and was one of the best of his town. He left Tuesday on a three weeks' vacation, and said he intended to visit his home in Nova Scotia, after which he intended to return to the hospital and resume his position as driver of the mail wagon. McTavis, the authorities here believed, was a good, respectable man, who was thoroughly respected at the hospital. McTavis secured his position last September through a Boston employment agency and nothing is known here of his relatives or why he should have gone

PREMIER ASQUITH

Says That the Tariff is a Trust Triumph

LONDON, July 24.—Addressing a meeting of city men yesterday afternoon, in defence of the budget, Premier Asquith declared that the only alternative offered to Chancellor Lloyd George's proposals for raising the new revenue necessary was the introduction of a tariff, but the Premier said, would not look at any suggestion for a tariff.

"Two great countries, the two greatest commercial rivals we have in the world," continued the Premier, "have been trying their hands at tariff fabrication for the last two or three years. Germany for two years has had in operation a full blown scientific tariff, and Germany's deficit is much greater than our own, and it has already caused the downfall of one of the most powerful ministers in Europe.

"And if we look on the other side of the Atlantic they have just completed the revision of the Dingley tariff. It is not for us to speak disrespectfully of America's financial proposals, following the pressure and complacency in the troubles, struggles and misfortunes of our friends and neighbors, but when we are told that sovereign remedy for our financial troubles is to create in Great Britain what has been created in Germany and what is just being created in America—a general tariff—we are entitled to look to the experience of those who have adopted these methods.

"And what is the case of the power American tariff? Why, as far as I can make out, it is universally condemned by the whole American press, and regarded by American people as a triumph of particular interests over general interests, for they see the trusts and monopolies, reinvigorated and re-informed in their long and too victorious campaign against the consumer.

"Mr. Asquith added that under there was a revolutionary change in public opinion here it would be impossible to carry a general tariff through the British house of commons.

A vote of confidence in the government's financial proposals, following the Premier's speech, was carried unanimously.

THAT LAND DEAL

Committee Thinks Something is Wrong in Transaction

The joint special committee appointed to consider the purchase of the land at the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets met last evening at city hall and talked the matter over.

Once Deziel claims to own the land in question, but it is held that no title can be passed from the Locks and Canals to him and the committee was more or less of the impression that the Locks and Canals still own the land.

Alderman Wainwright, chairman of the special committee, called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock. The matter of the purchase of the land was immediately approached and Alderman Connors said he had it from reliable authority that no deeds had passed from the Locks and Canals to Omer Deziel, and in view of that fact, he said Deziel had no right to build the house.

Chairman Wainwright said the deal looked a bit strange to him. He said that four at least of the trustees of the Locks and Canals company and it did not seem possible, he said, that men so interested in the textile school would plan to obstruct the view of that school by selling the land in question for tenement house purposes.

STATE CAMPAIGN

H. O'Sullivan at Democratic Conference

BOSTON, July 24.—Col. William A. O'Sullivan met the members of the finance committee and Chairman Macdonald of the state committee at the Hotel Bellevue last evening and discussed the state political outlook and talked over plans for the fall campaign.

Those present were Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, chairman of the finance committee, Daniel P. Dolan of Westfield and Walter E. Cramer of Lynn. Ways and means were discussed for raising money to assist the state committee in carrying on its work and preparing for the gubernatorial contest.

It is understood that Col. O'Sullivan promised to assist in financing the campaign, and that both Messrs. O'Sullivan and Dolan also agreed to help out.

HIS JAW BROKEN

Nashua Boy Injured in Boxing Bout

NASHUA, N. H., July 24.—John Rodman, a Nashua boxer, is at St. Joseph's hospital suffering from a broken jaw sustained in a boxing match at the Dracut Athletic club Thursday night.

Rodman strid two rounds with Young Kennedy of Lawrence, after which, Nashua fans allege, he was fouled with the result that his jaw was broken.

He was brought to Nashua and taken to the hospital, where Drs. Moran and Dearborn attended him. Rodman has a strong Nashua backing and has been the victor in several bouts in Boston.

SUM OF $12,500

Recommended for the Washington School

After viewing the new Washington school, the committee on lands and buildings met last night at city hall to take action on the report of the inspector of lands and buildings for $12,500 to complete the school. The committee agreed it would be necessary to make an extra appropriation, but that $15,000 was a pretty stiff price. The committee finally voted to recommend an appropriation of $12,500.

The committee voted $150 for a second water heater at the Lawrence street engine house.

MONTREAL, July 24.—The ferry steamer LaPrairie, plying between Montreal and LaPrairie, was burned to the water's edge early today while lying at the dock at LaPrairie. The crew narrowly escaped, having no time to dress. The vessel was valued at about $25,000.

INDIAN CHIEF

IS TO WED A WHITE WOMAN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 24.—Deep Sky, a Sioux chief, arrived up to the marriage because of the necessary legal documents to marry Adele Rowland, a pretty New York girl, 21 years old. Deep Sky, 35, came from South Dakota. This is the first marriage ever issued at the New York bureau to a white woman and a full blood Indian.

Deep Sky is exhibiting his horsemanship and giving warwhoops at the world west show now in New York. He and his fair sweetheart will be married on Tuesday next at the Polo grounds during a moment for crippled children. The Indian rites will be observed first, and then an all-American will lead the bride in the conventional legal way.

THE GLIDDEN TOURISTS

DENVER, July 24.—Three days of entertainment await the Glidden tourists who are making a 2000 mile tour of the United States in automobiles, when they arrive in this city today. Even the great race will be made here, and the tourists will be made cooperative against them, who they are the city's guests and they will be told that they may spend as long as they like while passing over the town selected for the parade. A special escort will be sent to meet the tourists at the city hall today to meet the Glidden tourists and escort them into the city, where a large escort will be taken them in hand. At the request of the parade a reception will be tendered at the Denver Motor club. This is announcing the approach of the tourists will be held when it is known that the city. The tourists will arrive about 5 o'clock.

Champion Grammar School Nine of the State

This is the champion Edson Grammar School team, winner of the grammar school league pennant three years running, and challenge of any grammar school team in Massachusetts. It is perhaps the fastest baseball team of its years in Lowell. It has won every game it has played in the state, and the team owns a great deal of its success to its manager, and coach, Mr. John H. Condon, who when he is not instructing the boys in baseball, is preparing for the next year's season.

Mr. Condon is an former ball player, with a record of 100 hits in 100 games, and he knows the game from the inside. The Edson school has a fine record on the South coast at its very doors, and hence based at that institution of learning. The members of the team are: Frank Roane, captain and pitcher; Thomas Brown, catcher; Thomas Green, left field; John Ryan, right field; James O'Day, center field; William Riley, first base; William H. Condon, manager; Thomas Brown, second base; Frank Roane, third base; and William Riley, shortstop.

PREMIER BRIAND ARSON CHARGED

Announces Make-up of Two Men Were Placed Under Arrest

PARIS, July 24.—M. Briand today definitely succeeded in forming a new cabinet to succeed the recently resigned Clemenceau ministry. He offered to Gen. Bismarck and Admiral de Maistre to take the portfolios of minister of war and minister of marine, respectively, having been in power. The new cabinet is made up of the following: Premier and minister of justice, Leon Poincaré; Minister of war, General Bismarck; Minister of marine, Admiral de Maistre; Minister of justice, M. Barthou; Minister of foreign affairs, M. Pichon; Minister of finance, Georges Clémenceau; Minister of education, M. Doumergue; Minister of public works, ports and telegraphs, M. Millerand; Minister of commerce and industry, M. Doumergue; Minister of agriculture, M. Rousselle; Minister of the colonies, M. Poincaré; Minister of labor, M. Viviani.

The Paris press seems skeptical regarding the duration of the new cabinet, but the general impression is favorable.

The moneyed interest are especially gratified at the disappearance of M. Clémenceau from the French ministry. The socialist movement is gratified at the fact that the minister of war and marine are both professional soldiers, and that the minister of justice is a lawyer.

The hearing in the proceedings for a contempt of court against George Bernard Shaw, who is still pending, and the further hearing against Clémenceau and Poincaré in the bankruptcy proceedings has been suspended until Aug. 2.

The matter was on for a hearing last Thursday, but at that time Clémenceau, a lawyer, who is in custody, was cited to appear. Judge Lodge of the United States district court on a charge of contempt of court against George Bernard Shaw, who is still pending, and the further hearing against Clémenceau and Poincaré in the bankruptcy proceedings has been suspended until Aug. 2.

CHINESE GIRLS

Say They Were Sold As Slaves

NEW YORK, July 24.—Miss Fung Choy and Miss Yen Toy, very young in their starved, pale and blue and pink emaciated frames, sat with hands folded on their laps up in the tower of the Gerry society yesterday afternoon and said for things to come. Next day they were to be sent to the white children's home of the Chinese girls.

These are the little Chinese girls who run away from their homes in Chinatown, and who are sold as slaves. They are sold to the Chinese girls who run away from their homes in Chinatown, and who are sold as slaves.

TARIFF MEASURE BRIGHT OUTLOOK

The Conferees Have Not Yet Reached a Final Agreement For Complete Success of Great Auto Carnival

WASHINGTON, July 24.—While no agreement was reached by the tariff conferees yesterday on road, lumber, hides, oil, iron ore, the cotton schedule or wood pulp and print paper, it was said last night by the conferees, after adjournment, that the prospects of reaching their final agreement today were excellent.

For a time yesterday it appeared that these so-called "national issues" might be disposed of by the conferees before the end of the day's session. However, when adjournment was taken at 5 p. m. until today, it was learned that the matters under discussion were still at issue.

Should the conferees reach their work today, it would be impossible to report it before Tuesday, as the house, which agreed to the conference on the tariff, and, therefore, under the rules, must recess today. The senate, adjourned yesterday until Tuesday.

Heroic measures were put into operation yesterday in an effort to compromise differences existing between the senate and house on the tariff bill and to carry out President Taft's program for a reduction of duties on raw materials.

All except the actual conferees were excluded from the chamber and it was agreed that discussions leading up to a settlement of any of the subjects familiarly termed "national issues" should be regarded as confidential.

At the conferees' last night, the feelings entertained for each other were more pleasant than they had been for many days.

When Arthur B. Shelton, clerk of the finance committee, and William K. Payne, clerk of the house ways and means committee, were escorted from the conferees' room, it was understood that votes would be taken on all of the subjects in dispute before adjournment for the day.

As the question of hides is giving the committee more trouble than any other of the schedules, that have claimed the attention of the president, it was discussed first.

It was decided that the differences between the two houses are almost irreconcilable unless hides and shoes and other leather goods should be greatly reduced, if hides were to go on the free list.

Sen. Aldrich had reports from many western senators protesting against the removal of the duty on hides or a reduction below ten per cent. on value.

Arrangements Made for Easy Access to Grounds, for Accommodation and Enjoyment of the Carnival

Arrangements for the National Automobile Carnival are progressing rapidly, and everything is running along with clocklike precision.

With the exception of the race track, the grounds are being prepared for the convenience of the thousands of people who will flock to the carnival.

It is estimated that the cost of constructing the grounds will be between $1000 and $2000.

Structural Work
Yesterday afternoon Architect Harry P. Graves, President Heinze and Contractor Shapson spent several hours laying out the stakes for the grandstand, and Monday lumber for the stands will be hauled to the scene and the work of construction will be started.

The contracts for the traffic bridge over Dunbar avenue, the suspension bridge over the race course at the grandstand and the pontoon bridge have not been awarded as yet. During the early part of the work the bids will be opened and contracts awarded so that the men may get to work as early as possible.

Suspension Bridge
Some people have got the idea that the suspension bridge from the grandstand to the press stand will be for the benefit of the public, but such is not so. This structure will be about six feet wide and will be built for the accommodation of the press and race officials. They have much occasion to cross and recross the track during the course of the races, but this year no one will be allowed on the track and this suspension bridge is to be erected in order to do away with the officials and representatives of the press having occasion to travel on the course. There is always more or less danger connected with automobile races but the plans laid down by the club will minimize the cause for accidents and in all probability prevent even the slightest accident.

The settlement of the little difference with Capt. Prouty of the steamboat Governor Allen removed the last objection to the construction of the pontoon bridge across the Merrimack river and the sanction of the war department to span the river has been granted. The contract for this structure will be awarded in a few days in order that the person who receives it can start at once to construct the 34 supports to sustain the floor work.

Easy Access to Course
The pontoon bridge solves one of the most difficult matters with which the management had to contend—the handling of the thousands of people who will flock to the course during the carnival.

Last year with but one entrance it was necessary for those who attended excepting those who had automobiles, to walk nearly a mile to the Dunbar avenue turn, while those who wished to view the race from the grandstand or bleachers had to cover nearly two miles of ground. This year, however, it will be a great deal different.

The electric cars and steam railroads will carry the people to a point directly opposite the grandstand and the only walk will be that of crossing the pontoon bridge. Those who come in automobiles and other vehicles will come by the way of Varnum avenue.

It is estimated that the cost of constructing the pontoon bridge will be between $1000 and $2000.

Cottages at Willow Dale
Mr. Thomas B. Huxwick, the business manager of the Lowell Automobile Club, knowing full well the desirability of the automobile public, had foreseen enough to lease 15 cottages at Willow Dale as well as the two upper floors of the Willow Dale pavilion and between August 15 and Sept. 15, will be able to care for in a pleasant, comfortable and homelike manner those who are anxious to secure suitable locations.

There are two ten-room cottages, one of eight rooms and another of six; seven cottages have five rooms each, four have four rooms, while there are two large halls on the second and third floors of the Willow Dale pavilion, which will accommodate a large number of people.

The houses are far enough apart so that the occupants may enjoy seclusion if such is desired and near enough to each other to create sociability among the occupants.

The rooms are large and airy, all nicely furnished. There is also the ever-welcome and enjoyable open fireplace in each cottage, in which a fire may be built in the cool of the evening.

For further particulars communicate with Thomas B. Huxwick, P. O. Box 565, Lowell, Mass.

FIERY GRUB FOUND
Mr. Edward Custy of 51 Walnut street brought a fierce looking specimen of bug to the Sun office for inspection. He found it eating up an apple tree. On one end it has a head like a rhinoceros and on the other a head like a baby hippopotamus. It is a fierce-looking specimen, but we have consulted any entomologist as to its species, assuming that it is an overgrown grub of one of the moth pests.

That this carnival will be one of the greatest advertisements Lowell ever had is rapidly becoming a well known fact for every newspaper in the country at the present time in advertising the needs is advertising Lowell. While some cities throughout the country are spending thousands of dollars in advertising and trying to get people to come to see the race, Lowell is getting it free of charge. Of course those who contributed to the guarantee fund of $10,000 are responsible.

KING WAS SPONSOR

For the Secret Bridal of the Spanish Prince

PARIS, July 24.—The details surrounding the romantic marriage of Prince Alfonso of Bourbon-Orleans to Princess Beatrice of Sax-Coburg, which cost him his position as a prince of the royal house of Spain and his career in the Spanish army, have come into the possession of the Associated Press.

They reveal the fact that King Alfonso, instead of refusing his consent to the marriage as he was expected to do, actually advised the prince to marry secretly, gave him a leave of absence for that purpose and personally intervened by telegraph with the Bamberg ecclesiastical authority, in whose diocese the marriage took place, to procure a dispensation for the couple.

This story was obtained from the prince's own lips by friends a few days ago in Munich, where the couple are spending the honeymoon, and when it is known in Europe it is likely to create a greater sensation than did the wedding and the prince's wedding.

Prince Alfonso and Princess Beatrice first met on the occasion of King Alfonso's marriage to Princess Ena of Battenberg, in 1905. The prince was then only 20 years old. He fell desperately in love with the princess and proposed to her, but she refused him in most decided fashion, even refusing him permission to correspond with her. Shortly after this the prince entered the military school at Toledo, and subsequently, in 1907, the couple met again at San Sebastian. Both the queen and the queen-mother, knowing of the prince's infatuation, espoused his cause and sought to induce Beatrice to relent. The princess, however, declared that she never would change her religion, but finally when she said she had no objection to rearing her children as Catholics, the queen-mother relented.

Favored by Queen Mother
Then there is not the slightest difficulty about the union. I always said that if I had a second son he should have married a Protestant.

She added that she herself had Protestant ancestors.

Later, at La Granja, King Alfonso formally asked the hand of Princess Beatrice for his cousin, and when Beatrice on that occasion raised the question of religion, his majesty said: "I give you my word of honor there will not be the slightest difficulty."

The prince then again proposed, and was accepted, and the couple, who had not yet apprised Beatrice's mother, the Duchess of Sax-Coburg and Gotha, with difficulty prevented King Alfonso from officially announcing the engagement.

When he returned to Madrid, King Alfonso asked Premier Maura what he thought of the marriage, and the premier replied:

"Then there is not the slightest difficulty about the union. I always said that if I had a second son he should have married a Protestant."

She added that she herself had Protestant ancestors.

"Then there is not the slightest difficulty about the union. I always said that if I had a second son he should have married a Protestant."

Princess Beatrice, because of her friendship for Queen Victoria, said she would give up the prince, and King Alfonso summoned the prince to Madrid and asked what was his intention to do in the matter. The prince replied that he had given his word to marry Beatrice his wife, and, besides, his personal feelings would not permit him to retire from the proposed union and that he intended to marry the princess regardless of consequences.

Princess Beatrice then departed from Madrid, and Prince Alfonso, upon the advice of the king, went to see Pope Pius and asked for a dispensation for a mixed marriage. The Spanish government, meantime, warned the vatican of the proposed union, and the dispensation was neither granted nor actually refused. After this the couple waited patiently, considering themselves affianced, as also did King Alfonso, who visited Princess Beatrice at Munich last summer.

When the prince was graduated from the military school at Toledo, July 12, he immediately volunteered to go to the front, as the war in Morocco had broken out. King Alfonso granted the prince a three days' leave of absence before going to Melilla, and urged him to secretly marry Princess Beatrice, declaring that he would write the bishop of Bamberg to grant a dispensation.

Princess Alfonso arrived in Cologne July 16, and the civil marriage took place that morning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremony was received a telegraphic dispensation from the bishop of Bamberg, and at 3.50 p. m. the Catholic ceremony was performed. It was not intended that the news of the marriage should be made public, but it was printed in Spain, and the royal decree of the degradation of Prince Alfonso followed.

Princess Blames Maura
The prince, in concluding his story to his friends, said:

"Maura, the head of the clerical party in Spain and because he holds a majority in parliament, forced the king to kick his own cousin out of the country and the army and to strip him of title and honors for the crime of marrying a Protestant, who is a niece of King Edward and a first cousin of the emperors of Germany and Russia."

The prince has again wired King Alfonso, asking to be allowed to go to the front.

The Infanta Eulalia, the prince's mother, who is here, is almost prostrated over the ruin of her son's career, as she knew that both the Spanish and British royal families were in perfect sympathy with the marriage.

FOR THE ENGAGED GIRL

Unique Ways of Announcing the Secret of Her Happiness.

It is becoming more and more the fashion for an engaged girl to announce the great secret of her happiness to her friends at a luncheon or dinner. This breaking of the news is often done in a formal in the shape of wedding bells or slay-way, either by the girl herself or her pair of scales in which a heart is shown outweighing a bag of gold. Both heart and bag are filled with favors, and the entire device is fastened from cardboard and crepe paper, with finish of flitters or bronze paint in gold or silver.

Another unique centerpiece is a huge heart of crushed white tissue paper constructed on a wire frame. It is decorated with cardboard cups and festoons of tiny red hearts, and the flitters with which it is filled are to be drawn out by means of ribbons passing through the sides.

My own experience leads me to believe that the picture postal can be made to pay the expenses of a vacation in almost any part of the United States," said an energetic woman. "With the aid of an inexpensive camera I am able to pay for my summer outing each year and to see parts of the country that would be impossible to me otherwise."

"My method is this: I set out with money enough to pay for a ticket to any portion of the country I want to explore and a little extra cash to carry me over a week or two. After leaving the train I wander about the town or resort, snapping all the places of interest, beautiful spots, and so on. These make a tour of the different hotels and boarding houses, offering to make picture postals of any view at so much a dozen or a hundred. As a general thing I find the proprietors interested at once, in which case I get a nice little order for the use of the guests of the establishment for advertising purposes."

"This, of course, is done by means of the sensitized postals, which I buy by the gross. I print mine by the lamp at night. There is a special machine which comes for the purpose by which a large number can be stamped out one after the other. I intend to have a machine in the near future, but for the present the lamp, though slower serves my turn."

"After having exhausted the hotels I want to remain longer in the neighborhood I have recourse to private houses. If I see a happy group on the porch of a country seat or a cottage I walk up and ask if they would not like to be photographed on picture postals. Usually I get an order either large or small. Then private patrons will ask to have their houses taken if they don't wish to be photographed themselves or a baby or a pet horse or dog. I take a number of plates around the house or of any subject indicated and make prints of the best. Usually the customer is pleased with two or more and will order postals made from them."

"It is an agreeable way of traveling, for people are almost invariably interested and kind to the amateur photographer, at least when at the stay-at-home sort, and when all expenses of film, sensitized postals, etc., is deducted I always find myself to the good," both in point of pocketbook and health."

IN THE COOKERY WORLD.

Pineapple Punch.—Peel, remove the eyes from a large pineapple, chop very fine, add one pint of boiling water and allow to stand until cold. Strain and press it to extract as much juice as possible. Add half a pint of cherry or raspberry juice, the juice of two lemons and a sirup made by boiling one pound of sugar with a pint and a half of water. Before serving add one bottle of mineral water.

Pineapple Sherbet.—Peel and remove the eyes from a large pineapple, chop very fine, add one pound of sugar and mix well together. Add two pints of water, the juice of two lemons and one orange and leave in a cool place for two hours. Strain and freeze in a "mush" or batter. Stir in a tablespoonful of whipping cream, gradually adding three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Finish the freezing, then repack and let it stand for two hours till firm.

Raspberry Pudding.—Butter a pudding dish, line the sides and bottom with bread-crumbs, steep one pint of raspberries with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one tablespoonful of cold water, pour the stewed fruit into the pudding dish and cover with bread-crumbs. Make a custard with a pint of milk and the yolks of three eggs, pour over the bread-crumbs and bake in the oven till browned. While the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, flavor them with sugar and vanilla extract, pile this on the top of the pudding and place in the oven for a few minutes. This makes a good cold pudding when it may be baked in a mold and whipped cream used in the place of the whites of eggs.

Frozen Coffee.—Put three tablespoonfuls of coffee and a quart of rich milk in a double boiler and let steep for half an hour. Strain and add one generous cupful of sugar. When cool stir in two tablespoonfuls of vanilla and freeze. Serve alone or with whipped cream.

Orange Ice.—Put a tablespoonful of gelatin to soak in a gill of cold water. Add a pint of boiling water, one cupful of sugar and the strained juice of six oranges. If this does not make a quart in all add sufficient cold water. Freeze as for ice cream.

MRS. HALE TELLS A GOOD STORY.

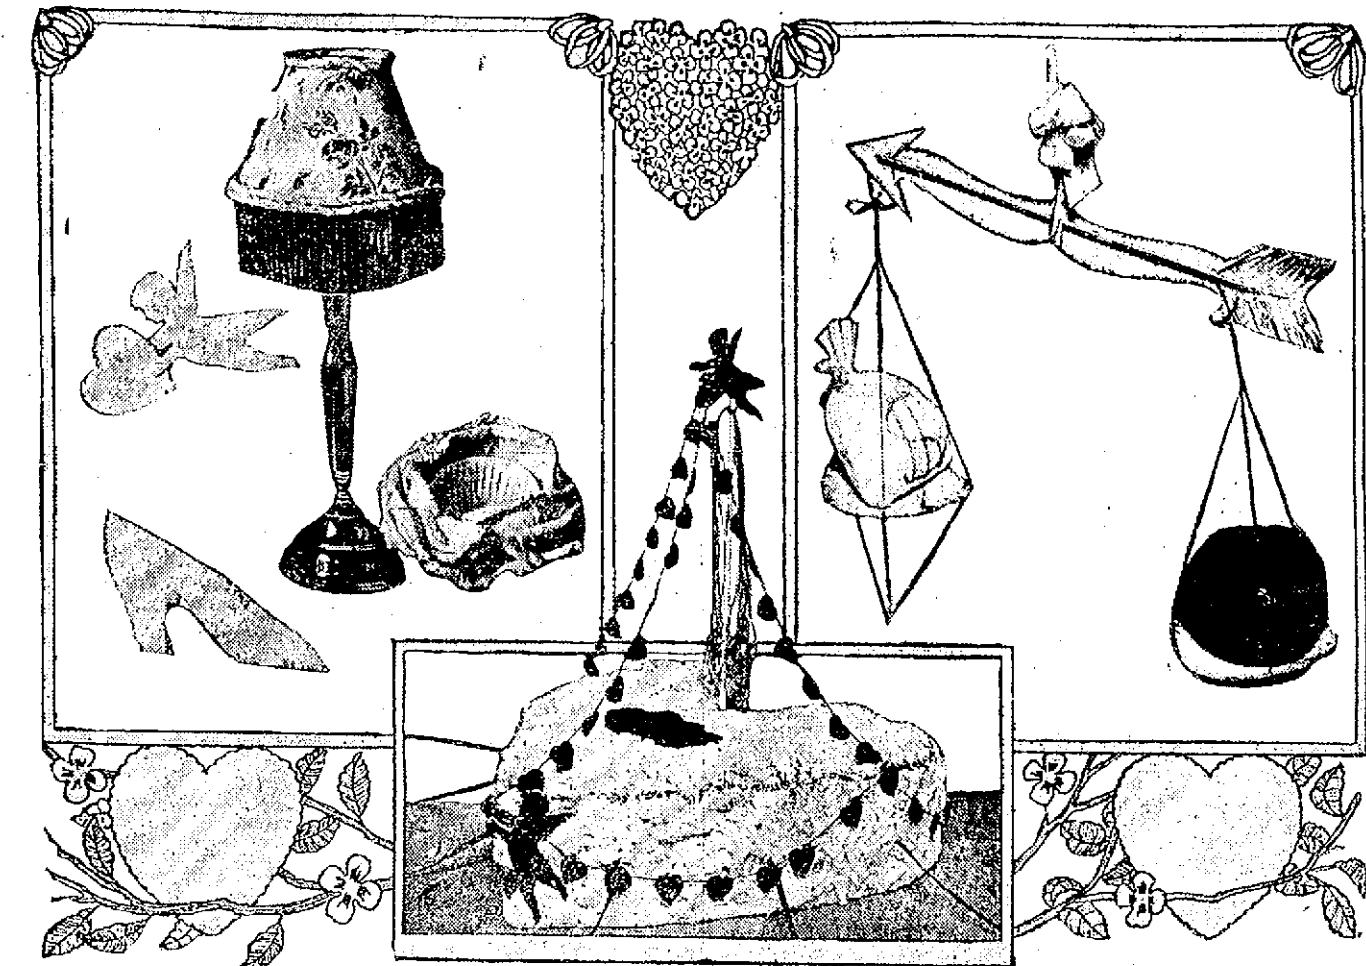

Louise Closser Hale, author of the new novel "The Actress," attributes most of the enjoyment to be got out of life to a capacity for seeing the joke when it is on oneself, and she has a sense of humor which is quite equal to any strain in that direction.

"While I was writing 'The Actress,' Mrs. Hale said recently, 'I was touring England part of the time, and I often wished I could put my various land-ladies of the 'Gleanings' in which we lived into my book. They knew very little of Americans and expected us all to talk through our noses. 'She speaks quite nicely, doesn't she?' said one landlady to my washerwoman right before my face. Another, after I had put on the misbegotten rags that the 'flora' bride, Miss Hare, wears in 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' had occasion to come to the theater to bring a parcel and viewed me with much satisfaction. 'Now you are something like it,' was her statement, which was too fraught with dire suggestion to require any further words."

THE LATEST IN YACHTING COSTUMES.

What do you think of this yacht costume? It has just reached this side of the pond, having been sent over from Paris for a New York society woman who is a famous sailor. The skirt is of white serge, plaited and strapped in a smart new fashion. The coat is of blue cloth, and the cap is of the same material, very professionally trimmed with white silk and white canvas shoes complete this nautical outfit.

FAVORS FOR LUNCHEON OR DINNER TABLE.

parents, but it is much jollier to convey the news with a unique touch.

A clever girl recently announced her engagement at a luncheon party by having a telegram brought in by the maid to one of the guests in the secret. When opened it was found to contain the news of the betrothal amusingly

Stuck in the top of each ice might be a tiny heart shaped envelope containing the name of the girl and her fiancé, each name written on a small silver paper heart joined by a silver dart piercing the two. A novel favor receptacle for an engagement luncheon or a wedding breakfast represents a pendent over her dinner table a large bomb-shaped decoration made of snowballs. From it white ribbons were attached to the plate of each guest. When the table was being cleared for dessert each person was asked to pull a ribbon. The bomb burst, scattering rice and small en-cardboard and bearing in his hands a silver flittered heart. At the back is a small tab of cardboard which slips over the edge of the water glass. These decorations are easily made and may be used with equal appropriateness for the bride's table, at a wedding breakfast or supper.

THE CURE OF FRECKLES

A Hint or Two For the Open Air Girl's Preservation of Her Complexion.

To the open air girl the difficulties connected with the preservation of the complexion during the summer months are many, but they are by no means insurmountable. With a little care and forethought one may play tennis and heat and yet keep a peachlike complexion, but day by day each little blenish caused by exposure to the sun must be removed, for if left until the season is over the chance of entirely removing it will be much smaller, the progress much longer.

The surest way of preventing the skin from becoming permanently tanned is the use of the following lotion night and morning: Take two ounces of fresh lemon juice, half a dram of powdered borax and one dram of sugar. Mix together and allow it to stand for twelve hours; then rub on the face or hands as required, night and morning after washing. Let this remain on the skin for a few minutes, wiping off carefully with a soft chamomile leather and dusting lightly with a good toilet powder. Bathing the face frequently with elder flower water is an old-fashioned remedy.

A girl who suffers much from tan, which, instead of becoming her friend, makes her look bilious, finds that she can keep her skin comparatively white and also remove tan after a day in the open air by bathing with water in which enough benzoin has been used to give it a milky look.

The cure of freckles is by no means so easy as that of sunburn, but an inexpensive cream can be made at home which, if persevered with, will remove freckles of long standing.

Take four ounces of pure olive oil, two small cucumbers and slice up the latter without peeling them. Place the oil in an earthenware jar and heat it thoroughly. Put the sliced cucumbers in the oil and let them stand for twenty-four hours. Strain through muslin and pour in small ointment pots, covering with preserve paper. When using rub carefully into that portion of the skin where the freckles appear and leave on for a few minutes while dressing in the morning, wiping off afterward with a cloth. Apply at bedtime and leave on all night.

Sunburned hands may be bleached at night by the use of a paste made by mixing two teaspoonfuls of almond oil with the same quantity each of finely sifted oatmeal and powdered borax. Beat all into a paste and smear over the hands, covering them with a pair of old, loose fitting gloves.

Although the sun and wind have an injurious effect upon the complexion, they act as an excellent tonic to the hair, and the summer girl who wishes to brighten her tresses and increase their growth will do well to expose them as much as possible to the rays of the sun. A celebrated beauty whose hair is much admired confided to me the secret of her treatment of it. Every day, weather permitting, she sits with her hair loosely shaken down and her back to the open window, allowing the sun and air to play upon her hair for at least a half hour, often longer, and to this she attributes its growth and the beautiful bright lights in it.

Too free a use of water has been known to cause baldness. Immersion in sea water is especially bad, and a certain young woman who had a long, delightful summer of bathing a year ago is mourning the loss of her hair, which literally rotted off through being so constantly soured.

DAPHNE DEAN.

WOMAN, WOMAN!

Stray Shots by the Late John Oliver Hobbes.

Good wives so often die young. Perhaps that is one of their brightest virtues.

A woman's mission is to play the fool, and that is why she can lead a man so long as she does not love him. On the instant she loves she must be honest or die; she loses all discretion. Women only confess the sins they have left undone. It was a man who prayed for the talent of forgetting.

Men do not like their wives to have too clear a perception of the ludicrous. It is a masculine theory that the laughter must be on the male side only.

PAJAMAS FOR SMALL GIRLS.

Small girls are now wearing pajamas as well as their brothers. The little lady in the picture presents a most attractive appearance in her

BUILT-IN SCREENS.

Many of the new houses are being built with screens attached to the window frames, which slide down into a casing out of sight in winter and can be raised and lowered by automatically pressing a button.

A SEWING TIP.

Why not keep a pair of tweezers in the workbasket? You have no idea how useful they are to pull out stubborn ends of basting cotton, particularly when the machine stitching has run over the bastings. Such accidents are very frequent, no matter how careful the seamstress may be, and the tweezers will really prove of great assistance.

QUAINT LITTLE CLOCK.

An odd little clock is in the form of a crystal ball suspended by a leather strap to the top of a stirrup iron. The iron, which is really of silver or gun metal, stands on the desk or dresser on the metal base on which the foot rests when one rides, and the clock swings from its tiny leather strap. This would make an ideal gift for the girl who rides and drives and loves horses.

RACK FOR LIDS.

The tidy housekeeper finds the many lids of pots, pans and kettles needed in the kitchen a problem to arrange with any degree of order and neatness. They cannot be hung up, many of them, owing to the shape, will not lie in a pile, and they are woefully unhandy in the dresser drawers.

A bright woman to whom the lids were as the hosts of the evening has now solved the question in a way both easy and inexpensive.

She got a length of strong wire, stretched it across the pots and pans shelf by means of a couple of nails, and on this the lids accompanying all the cooking utensils are neatly arranged. The wire supports them perfectly, and the even row of shiny tin things is by no means unornamental in addition to its handiness.

ICE CREAM LOOKED GOOD.

The young man in the new summer suit who had just ordered maple nut sundries for two at a drug store proceeded to be entertaining.

"Did you ever notice how styles in goods change in a drug store, just as they do in a dry goods shop? In patent medicines everything is guaranteed in summer to relieve that tired feeling, while in the winter it was something to cure your cough and keep your blood up. At the toilet counter it was cold cream for chapped hands and faces, and now it's stuff to keep your hair in curl for hot weather baths. And there where you see bottles and chairs was the old candy counter. They clear all that away in hot weather—no money in candy for the druggist in summer. Even the soda fountain signs are changed and suggest tinkling ice instead of nourishing drinks."

"I never noticed," no," said the girl, as she dipped her spoon into the toothsome sundae, the offering of the young man in the linen coat. "Ice cream looks good to me the whole year round."

New Thoughts From Old Texts For Women Who Aspire

Don't Monopolize the Good Qualities of Your Friends. Get Out Into the Open and Tell of the Good You See and Hear.

WOMEN who adopt the shut-in policy are like the Chinese. They hurt themselves more than they hurt any one else.

Don't hesitate to hand a good thing around, whether it is a friend, a dress-maker or an accomplishment. For everything you give to others you get some exchange, and if you give nothing you get nothing.

I know women who always want to keep their friends to themselves. They like to sit in one corner and talk with one person. They frown if any one else comes to interrupt this tete-a-tete. Now, that is the way to grow stupid. If, for instance, you fond of Mary X, I ought to want to see all of her different sides. She is affected in a certain way by me, but other women bring out different qualities in her; therefore she is at her best with several people around, not when I keep her to myself. The Good of Mixing.

If I have only a succession of confidential conversations with the people I like I am practically getting their views of my point of view over and over again. If I want to get away from myself I must mix with several people.

There is an age when the bones and muscles grow stiff; there is also an age in which a woman's mind takes on the same characteristics. Do, please, bear this in mind. If you don't keep broadening out mentally and exercising these thought muscles there will come a time when your narrowness will be beyond repair.

Read Everything—Get In the Open.

Women should read more, anything and everything, not merely just the things that appeal to them. How few and limited these subjects are need only be ascertained by reading the average woman's page or magazine.

How can we expect our sex to be fitted to grasp the problems of government when it curls itself up in a cocoon of limited thought and refuses to look at the outside world?

General information is the thing that makes a woman bright. That helps her with everything she attempts nowadays.

Get out into the open, women, if you would have clever brains. See all you can, hear all you can and remember all you can.

Every bit of information you absorb will come in handy some day. Originality is a quality that cannot be too much cultivated in the growing child.

Our mode of life, our school system, everything tends to starve and engulf this quality.

And yet without it what are we? The individual without originality is one of the crowd of commonplace people who are driven by the lash of some one else's brain.

He cannot think for himself, and consequently he can never lead, but must be driven by some one who has the gift.

You may know ever so much in this world, but if you have not the art of arriving at your own deductions you are more ignorant than the little street arab who can plan for himself and size up a situation without help.

If there is one thing that makes me tired above all others it is when I read some minister's opinions in print about matters of which he is absolutely ignorant.

A minister is a fine man in his place, but he is not fitted to settle the affairs of the world at so many dollars a column.

And, besides, it seems to me there should be enough work in an earnest man's church to take up all his time.

Why don't the ministers' wives do the writing for them? They could do it just as well, and during that time the pastor himself could be attending to his flock.

THE ATLANTIC FLEET

PROVINCETOWN, July 24.—The vessels of the Atlantic fleet which were out on the practice grounds yesterday, last night were sighted coming into the harbor shortly after noon today. The unfavorable weather conditions during which they have conducted maneuvers of various kinds had given way to sunny skies and the sea had moderated considerably, the wind having shifted to the southwest.

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

NEW YORK, July 24.—George Howard, a badly middle-aged negro, sailed on the White Star line steamer Arabia for Liverpool, a man without a country. The authorities in England will probably send him back and as this country has deported him as an undesirable alien it will refuse to receive him.

Howard arrived here on the Arabia a week ago. He had just left an English prison, and as he claimed American citizenship the British authorities sent him over. On this side a special board of inquiry decided that his claims of citizenship were unfounded and ordered his deportation.

Ellis island officials say Howard's case is without a parallel and that he will at least have to remain a third class passenger on the Arabia until the two governments having much red tape.

SEWER GAS EXPLODED

Seven Laborers Were Entombed in Cambridge Subway

CAMBRIDGE, July 24.—An explosion of sewer gas in the new Cambridge and Boston subway at Kendall square entombed seven laborers this morning. The men who are mostly foremen were removed shortly afterward and taken to the hospital. All were hurt and it is believed two were fatally injured.

The men were working in the new subway and were on a ladder half way down when the gas suddenly belched through the walls side of them with a hissing sound. The ladder was shaken and the workmen tumbled over the side to the ground and were taken to the hospital. The men were mostly foremen and were working on the new subway.

Two other laborers, who had not descended into the subway attempted to rescue the entombed men but found that they would be overcome by the gas. They were taken to the hospital and are recovering.

The cause of the explosion was made at a great risk on the part of the fire department. The cause was made at a great risk on the part of the fire department.

HISTORIC ORGAN

Of King's Chapel in Boston to be Replaced

BOSTON, July 24.—In pursuance of a decision to replace the historic organ of King's Chapel which was installed in 1751 by a new one, workmen were engaged today to remove the old organ from the church. The new organ is expected to be installed in the fall.

The old organ was built by Thomas Jencks, a Bostonian, and was one of the finest of its kind in the country. It was used in the church for many years.

The new organ is expected to be a great improvement on the old one. It is expected to be a great improvement on the old one.

NOTHING KNOWN

OF IMPENDING CHANGES IN CUBAN CABINET

MANCHESTER, July 24.—Nothing is known of impending changes in the Cuban government or the possible appointment of a new Cuban minister to the United States at the summer headquarters of the Cuban legation here according to a statement given out today by Arturo Padro, first secretary of the legation. The minister, Gen. Carlos Velez is at present in New York. Regarding the despatches from Havana last night to the effect that rumors of such changes persist, Secretary Padro said:

"The report from Havana appears preposterous and not to be believed. General Velez is close to the head of the Cuban government. I believe such a change would not be seriously contemplated without some knowledge coming to the legation here. It is not to be desired. The general has a wide intimate knowledge of political affairs of Cuba and his place could hardly be filled by any one else with such a guarantee of success. He has received reports of a most laudatory nature from President Gomez for the work he has accomplished. Gen. Velez has the kindest feelings towards the United States."

Secretary Padro said that the minister had gone to New York several days ago in connection with plans for the establishment of a new line of steamships between Philadelphia and Cuba which he believes will aid in the development of his country. In respect to the general political situation in Cuba Secretary Padro said that the working agreement between the different parties in Cuba has produced a "highly satisfactory condition" and that he doubted the probability of the appointment by President Gomez of Vice President Zayas as chief of the United Liberals.

FREIGHT CARS IDLE

CHICAGO, July 24.—Although there are at present 250,000 idle freight cars in the United States, Canada and Mexico, according to the reports of the American Railroad Assn., traffic tonnage has been increasing so rapidly recently that railroad officials are taking steps to prevent possible car shortage this fall. Especial attention is being devoted to the coal traffic.

NIGHT EDITION

POLICE OFFICIAL

Chicago Officer Indicted by the Grand Jury

CHICAGO, July 24.—Police Inspector McCann was indicted today charged with malfeasance in office in the alleged collecting of "protection" money from illegal establishments of the West End "Tenderloin."

McCann's predicament was foreshadowed yesterday when an indictment was returned against Detective Sergeant Jeremiah Griffin, alleged to have been the collection agent working out of McCann's office.

Half a dozen witnesses testified before the grand jury. It was stated in this testimony that Griffin harvested as high as $9000 a month most of which went to men "higher up." The aggregate collected under this system is said to be $150,000.

Vice of every sort including the selling of cocaine is alleged to have been protected.

The indictment against the inspector contains ten counts, five charging malfeasance in office and five charging the acceptance of bribes.

Besides McCann and Griffin four others are under indictment in the case. They are Louis Frank, said to be a millionaire who has always been politically potent in the "levee" district of the West Side; Michael Heitler, otherwise known as "Mike the Pike"; Morris Shatz, who is said to have confessed as to underlying details of the alleged graft and M. A. Sanchez who is charged with collecting money on the pretext that he would secure protection.

Inspector McCann has been with the police department for a generation, rising from the ranks to his present position. He declares the charges come from a powerful clique which despising of forcing him to protect vice, has determined to ruin him.

MISS HOFFMAN

Actress Was Arraigned in Court

NEW YORK, July 24.—Gertrude Hoffman, the dancer, was arraigned in police court today and paroled until next Tuesday when the court will take up the question of whether or not her performance at a local theatre is "indecent, suggestive and immoral and offensive to public decency," as the complaint charged. The court directed that during the interval Miss Hoffman must not be molested.

Her case hinges upon whether or not the charges are proper. If they are, the actress, who the police officer who made the arrest declared Miss Hoffman's conduct.

Later today the fact developed that the arrest of Miss Hoffman last night after the performance resulted from orders issued by Police Commissioner Baker. The commissioner said that he had directed the arrest after he had witnessed Miss Hoffman's performance last night.

MURDER REVEALED

By Finding of Man's Body in Hotel in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, July 24.—Through the discovery yesterday of the body of Stewart McTavis lying fully clothed on a bed in the Hotel Florence, near the East Cambridge courthouse with a bullet hole in one eye, and one side of his head and face a mess of bruises, the police of this city are confronted with a sordid murder, upon which, up to a late hour last night, they had been unable to throw any light.

Elizabeth Richmond, aged 45 years, the proprietress of the hotel, who was found apparently under the influence of liquor in the kitchen floor adjoining McTavis' room, was detained as a witness, but a rigid examination by the police failed to bring forth any statement from the woman, other than that she denied everything. As Mrs. Richmond appeared in a dazed condition until late last night, the police were obliged to wait until today to gain any information from her. Eight men and two women, who were found in the room at the time, and who are said to have shown traces of having used liquor during the day, are also detained as witnesses. A revolver and a bloody axe were found in an empty bedroom near the room where McTavis was found, but, with the exception of blood stains in this room and McTavis' room, none were found elsewhere. McTavis' watch and a large roll of money, which he is said to have had with him when he went to the hotel, are missing.

The body was found by Timothy Clifford, a blacksmith, who lives at 17 West Cambridge street. He was called by a neighbor to look after a horse. Clifford searched throughout the house, finding Mrs. Richmond in a dazed condition on the kitchen floor and McTavis' body in the bedroom.

McTavis, who was employed at the state insane hospital at East Gardner, started on a three weeks' vacation on Tuesday, and on Wednesday was to have acted as best man at the wedding of his sister to a man named R. Gillis of Boston. McTavis, however, failed to appear and the ceremony was performed without him. The murdered man was about 25 years old and unmarried. He bore a good reputation with his employers.

Hotel Florence was formerly the Hotel Cambridge, one of the most fashionable hostleries in the city, and was one of the best known landmarks in this vicinity.

WELL SPOKEN OF

EAST GARDNER, July 24.—Stewart McTavis, whose body was found in Cambridge yesterday under suspicious circumstances as to the manner of his death, was employed as a teamster at the state hospital for the insane, a few miles out of this town. He left Tuesday on a three weeks' vacation trip, and said he intended to visit his home in Nova Scotia, after which he intended to return to the hospital and resume his position as driver of the mail wagon. McTavis, the authorities of the hospital say, was a man of exemplary habits and was thoroughly respected at the hospital. McTavis secured his position last September through a Boston employment agency, and nothing is known here of his relatives or why he should have gone to Cambridge.

FRENCH CABINET

New Body Formed by Mr. Birand

PARIS, July 24.—After a day of conferences, Aristide Briand succeeded in forming a new French ministry and officially announced the success of his endeavor to President Fallieres at 11 o'clock last night. The new cabinet is as follows:

Trouin-Lot. Minister of labor, M. Viviani. The portfolios of war and navy will be filled today. There have been offered, respectively, to Gen. Brien and Admiral Belin-Prevost, and both are expected to accept. The post of under-secretary of posts

HEIR TO MILLIONS

Is Working in a Gas Plant for $8 a Week

NEW YORK, July 24.—Son of a multi-millionaire banker and heir to the powerful Kean interests in New Jersey, John Kean 3d, a Harvard senior, is working as a laborer in the gas plant of his uncle, Senator John Kean at Elizabeth, N. J.

His father is Hamilton Fish Kean, head of the banking house of Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co., 20 Pine st., New York. Hamilton F. Kean is a millionaire many times over. He takes a silent but leading part in New Jersey politics.

The banker, who owns a magnificent summer home at Hibernia, N. J., was determined that his son should not grow up an idler. In June John Kean 3d finished his junior year at Harvard and his father decided it was about time for him to be getting acquainted with the business which he will control later on.

The Kean supply Elizabeth with its gas and water, beside holding an interest in practically everything else worth while in that part of the state. Young Kean was accordingly put at work in one of the branch gas houses at 4th avenue and Erie st., Elizabeth, at $8 a week. He pitched right in, and his foreman said yesterday that there isn't a better workman in the place. He leaves his home in New York at 6 o'clock and returns promptly at 6 as the whistle blows, in jumper and jeans.

He wheels a barrow, lifts cinders, fixes a boiler beside workmen born to that task, and when noon comes around he munches his sandwich and drinks his bottle of coffee with the rest.

Young Kean would say but little when a reporter asked him how he liked his work. "O, the work's not very hard," he said. "If I'm going to run these things some day, the sooner I start to learn something about it the better. Father started me as a clerk with the J. Kennedy Tool company in New York and there's no reason why I shouldn't begin in the same way."

"I rather like the work, but whether I like it or not I'm going to stick to it. O, course I'm going back to Harvard in the fall, but I'll be here again next summer."

"Mind working with laborers?" he queried. "Nonsense. They're a first rate lot of men."

"You know, I'm related to Col. Roosevelt," he added, "which may account for my democratic tendencies."

The man all say Kean 3d is a mighty fine fellow. He walks to the Elizabeth port depot with a bunch of them every night.

The Elizabethtown gas light company, the Elizabeth water company and the National state bank are a few of the concerns owned by the Kean in Jersey.

LOST BROTHER

Makes Claim to a $22,000 Estate

FITCHBURG, July 24.—A petition has been filed in the probate court by an attorney from Hartford, Conn., acting for William Venna of Burlingame, Calif., who claims the estate of the late Jennie Miller, who died about a year ago leaving about $22,000.

It was not thought that Mrs. Miller left any relatives, and A. Z. Goodfellow, who of this city was appointed administrator of the estate. He investigated, and the story of the death of Mrs. Miller, together with the amount of money left was published in many papers, but no one was found who could prove a claim to the estate. There were several who filed claims, but none of them proved legitimate ones.

A. Z. Goodfellow, the administrator, started yesterday afternoon that Mr. Venna was undoubtedly the brother of the dead woman and, therefore, was entitled to the entire estate. Most of the estate left is in money.

Mrs. Miller lived at Athol for several years. It was not known that she had any relatives. A hearing will be held in the probate court next month upon the petition of Mr. Venna, who asks to have the estate distributed.

Mr. Venna's attorney says his client first read of his sister's death in a copy on a Boston paper. In a small village in California, and at once took up the work of establishing his heirship.

A DECISION

DECLARING CERTAIN MINING LOCATIONS INVADDED

WASHINGTON, July 23.—First Assistant Secretary of the Interior Frank Pierce, has just made a decision declaring invalid certain mining locations claimed by A. H. Yard and the North California Mining Co. for land in the Plumas National forest, California.

This decision is the culmination of a controversy between the government and the mining claimants, which was actively begun on March 16, 1907. Before that date it was found that Mr. Yard and the North California Mining company were claiming approximately 200,000 acres of heavily timbered land, worth approximately $5,000,000 and located in the Plumas National forest, in Butte and Plumas counties, California.

Through cooperation between the department of the interior and the forest service a geological examination was made of part of the land. The consequence of this examination was that the North California Mining company re-

TAMMANY HALL

IS GIVEN A JOLT BY MAYOR McCLELLAN

NEW YORK, July 24.—Mayor McClellan, himself a democrat, jolted Tammany hall yesterday by vetoing the revised building code, a measure recently pushed through the board of aldermen by Tammany. Its almost prohibitive clause governing fire proofing material, which practically gave a monopoly to hollow tile and barred cinders and concrete, kicked up a rumpus which reached the mass of real estate interests fought the proposed regulations tooth and nail as did contractors and other interests whose materials were hit.

OUR REGRETS TO DEPEW.

Senator Depew must imagine that we are hard up for dry reading matter since he has sent us a dozen of his speeches delivered in the United States senate this year and last.

Possibly he thinks that when news is scarce we will print some part of them or that some member of our staff, anxious to acquire the art of divesting himself of a gust of verbosity without saying anything, will take them off to the country on his vacation and study them as models in that particular branch of political oratory. We regret, senator, that we have no such use for the speeches sent us and that they must be promptly consigned to our waste basket where a great many more meritorious productions find a resting place before being removed to the scrap heap.

It seems to be a favorite pastime with some senators and congressmen to load Uncle Sam's letter carriers with rubbish of this kind, supposed to be dignified by the reminder that it is part of the Congressional Record. If they had to pay postage on this literature they would not mail it, and the newspaper editors of the country would be relieved of an infliction that often tries their patience.

THE STREET PAVING QUESTION.

According to the statement of Supt. Putnam of the street department, it seems now to be settled that no part of Merrimack street will be paved before the auto carnival. The first and main objection was that the street railway company cannot get the rails and switches necessary to be laid at Merrimack square and Dutton street before September 15. The next is that Supt. Putnam is afraid to start paving Merrimack street from Dutton to Central where there is no obstruction lest one side of the street should be unfinished at the opening of the carnival. As the grade of the street is to be raised eight inches he feels of course that it would be a serious risk to have the street in an unfinished condition at a time when it would be subject to such great traffic by automobiles. Most people, think, however, that there should be no trouble in completing the paving of Merrimack street from Dutton to Central before the opening of the carnival.

The merchants along Merrimack street would like to see this part of the street paved during the dull season so that it would not interfere with their business in the fall. The situation is rather discouraging, and it is one that will bring reproach to Supt. Putnam whether he is guilty or not. It does seem that the street railway company should be able to secure the necessary track irons earlier than September 15. At that date it will be too late almost to start the job as at the ordinary rate it would not be finished before the snow flies. There are a good many people who believe there is no good reason for such a situation.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

President Taft will render a signal service to the country if he succeeds in forcing reductions in the tariff schedules where these are most needed. In so doing he will lift a portion of the tariff burdens from the shoulders of the people, and he will also thereby forestall the formation of new and oppressive trusts that would undoubtedly be organized under the prohibitive rates in the new tariff bill.

Moreover he may thus prevent another panic which is sure to come after a period of over-production and inflated prices such as follows the spasmodic activity of the trusts in their effort to reap the harvest offered by the new and increased tariff.

The excessive protection granted certain interests serves as a government license to levy tribute upon the people. The tariff cuts off foreign competition and the trust combine kills all competition in the home market so that the trusts can ask just as much as they please for their products, and when these include, as they usually do, the necessities of life the people have no alternative but to pay what the trusts demand.

President Taft will earn the gratitude of the nation if he asserts his power to prevent the enactment of a bill that would further increase the cost of living and rehabilitate the political power of the trusts over the government and the destinies of the nation.

THE EFFECT OF ATHLETICS ON THE HEALTH.

After all, the doctors are beginning to find out that the athletic profession does not prolong life. Some of the ordeals through which athletes pass cannot fail to affect the heart, and this is what the doctors are finding out. It is found that athletes after passing through a series of contests or perhaps years of hard training and physical development often go to pieces with a suddenness that is alarming, all because the severe athletic work had weakened the heart. It is a mistake to suppose that the training that makes an athlete will also prolong his life. The deductions to be drawn from the general investigations made by physicians on the effect of athletics on the health are, that exercise and physical training moderately indulged in are beneficial but if carried to extremes are injurious as they affect the heart and shorten life.

William McKeon, the well known athlete and trainer, in view of his experiments at Yale as a result of the collapse of four men from overstrain in the heat race with Harvard, recently said:

"The remarkable thing is that the rest of them stood up, and the only reason they can is that they are young and strong and the very pick of hundreds. They are forced into a tremendous over-exertion—it is bound to leave its mark. The trouble is that they are brought to this great exertion too suddenly by far they should come to it by a long and gradual process, and that is what judicious training largely is. That a great many more do not break down completely is extraordinary. I have always insisted that athletes were wrongly conducted in the colleges. It isn't only the heart they do harm, but to the mind. That is evidenced by withdrawing the vitality from it to the other parts of the body."

There is a piece of sound common sense based upon experience, and it is something that should be taken home by every young man who engages in college athletics or contests of equal severity.

SEEN AND HEARD

He was a sad self-confident specimen of juvenile life. He was coming out of the tobacco shop with the proceeds of his negotiations for "a nickel's worth" of cigarettes, when a philanthropic stranger accosted him.

"My boy, I hope you don't use tobacco."

"Me use tobacco?" was the rejoinder. "Why de very best! I'm for getting a handful of de terrible stuff to kill de bugs in me rose garden."

The poor old blind man was feeling his way along with a cane, safe in the belief that those blessed with eyesight would give him the right-of-way. He was in Merrimack square near the Sun building. A woman was coming in the opposite direction and as she approached the blind man her attention was attracted in another direction. A second later her eyes were directed to the blind man's cane and she was thrown head foremost into the street. A good natured little man went to her rescue and asked her if she was hurt. At first she thought she was hurt, but when she learned that she tripped on a blind man's cane she acknowledged that she wasn't hurt. The blind man knew that somebody had kicked his cane, but he didn't know that the trip had sent a woman sprawling in the street and, naturally, he felt a bit indignant over it and said something about people being more careful.

Once in a while John O. Heinze, promoter of the "biggest automobile race on earth," finds time to tell a story. Here's a southern story having to do with two darkeys, George Washington and Dixie by name, that was told by Mr. Heinze, a few evenings ago. Two darkeys are lying idly in the shade of a high board fence when the following conversation occurs. Says George:

"Ah wish Ah had a hundred water-millions."

Dixie's eyes lighted. "Hum! Dat would suttinly be fine! Ah'd yo' had a hundred watermillions would yo' gib me fifty?"

"Wouldn't yo' gib me twenty-five?" Still a negative answer.

Dixie gazed with reproachful eyes at his close-shaven friend. "Seems to me you's powerful stingy, George Washington," he continued in a heavy broken voice. "Wouldn't yo' gib me one?"

"No, Ah wouldn't gib yo' one! Look a heah, nigger! Are yo' so good fer nuffen lak dat yo' can't wish fo' yo' own watermillions?"

"Is this the automobile registration department of the state of Ohio?" The voice over the phone was flute-like and sweet.

"It is," replied the office man. "Do you have records of the numbers of all the automobiles in Ohio?"

"Of all that are registered, yes."

"Can you refer to any particular number without a great deal of trouble?"

"It takes only a few moments."

"Can you tell me who owns machine No. 10,000?"

"Only one name comes up, the actual number of the machine."

"Just hold the phone a moment!" The office man returned in less than a minute. "The machine is owned by Mr. So-and-so of Cleveland," he said, then hastened to inquire: "Is there any trouble about it? An accident perhaps?"

"Oh, no," said the sweet voice. "The machine has been in front of Miss So-and-so's home in East Road, next door, every Sunday evening for several months, and I was just curious to know who was calling upon her. Ever so much obliged." And the receiver went up. Ohio State Journal.

"Keep an eye on deaf mute customers," was the advice given to his employees by the storekeeper.

"Isn't that casting cruel reflections on the honesty of an unfortunate class of people?" asked an indignant clerk.

CLEARS THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy

Since its discovery, one year ago, the new skin remedy, has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eruptions and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use posium for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2.00 jar may now be obtained in Lowell at Falls & Burkhart's, and Carter & Scharf's, leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 25 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

It is a trick played by dirty thieves who can talk as well as you or I to stop by means of the size language. The clerks are so interested in trying to make out what they are saying and to spell an answer on their own fingers that they can't keep track of the other fellow's lying hands and some pretty shabby shuffling are done under their very eyes."

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills, for Lowell kidney sufferers. Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Lowell people who have been cured to stay.

Mrs. William Charlton, living at 17 Fayette street, Lowell, Mass., says:

"You are at liberty to continue using my name in recommendation of Doan's Kidney Pills, as I cannot say too much in their favor. My trouble was a lame and aching back, so bad at times that I could not stoop or lift. The misery was always worse when I caught cold or during changeable weather. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me at once, and during the years which have passed have always benefited me when I have appealed to them. I have recommended them a number of times and know of several persons who have used them with the same good results. I procured this remedy at Ellingwood & Co's drug store."

Something's Going To Be Handed To You—

Something is going to be handed to you very shortly, and it is going to be free. It is going to be something you and different from anything ever before produced. You are going to get it with over it, just as thousands of other people have all over the country.

It is one of the most delicious mouth-watering foods you ever ate; and it is a remedy besides.

You, you and millions of people just as smart as you are have been considered as being that they think thick, drag heavily, and work weary.

They're becoming poisoned—brain, blood and body poisoned. Some know it and some don't. Those who don't know it would get "mad" if you'd tell them.

You can shake your fist at almost any old disease if you have the bowels that "clock work" every twenty-four hours. You and every other catholic user have got to quit taking pills and "movies" if you want to get rid of your constipation for good.

Cathartics of course do clean out the bowels, but they also clean out the bowels astringent juices, which are secreted by nature to make the bowels work easy and right.

But when those natural juices are cleaned out by cathartics, your bowels become more sluggish. Then you get a bad case of constipation, and more pills are swallowed and more and more are needed.

Thus it goes, over and over again, until your bowels become paralyzed. The constipation-poison goes to the brain, naturally and to every organ of the body. It goes to your head and gives you headache and makes you dizzy and drowsy, it goes to the stomach and makes it rebel, causing dyspepsia and bad breath. It goes to your liver and causes biliousness, goes to your nerves and makes them weak, and you feel draggy in the middle of the day when you ought to be up and doing things.

Medicine bowl-movers influence and weaken the bowels. Cathartics contain aloes, castor oil, croton oil, cascara, jalap, and other harsh ingredients.

Cerena is coming to you very shortly—it is going to be handed to you where you least expect it.

If you can't wait for the package offer, and want immediate relief, you can get it by going to your grocer and buying a liberal stock package for 25 cents.

Cerena will cost you but one cent a day. At your Grocer's 25 cents a package.

Various musical organizations of that city have volunteered their services, and the best seats for the first performance, which will be the "Gypsy Baron," have already been subscribed for. In commenting on the assured success a Vienna paper says that visiting Americans have been the most liberal subscribers.

Senator Aldrich is going to Europe as soon as he gets the tariff off his hands, and Sen. La Follette is going to lecture about him at the Chautauques during his absence. As a subject Aldrich will be worth several hundred dollars a day to La Follette, writes John Lorraine, "a thousand a week certainly."

When Thomas Hill, now dead, painted "The Last Spike," which pictures the scene at the completion of the Central Pacific Railroad and its junction with the Union Pacific, it was said that he would receive $50,000 for the work. There was a misunderstanding, and the painting was left on his hands. Now that John Washburn, his son-in-law, is negotiating for its sale to an eastern man for $100,000, San Francisco people are trying to raise the money necessary to keep it in the city. Four hundred persons are shown in the painting, 70 of them by portraits.

The young king of Portugal took command of a regiment of dragons the day when it marched to the parade ground at Lisbon to receive a new stand of colors, and was a conspicuous figure among the kneeling officers during the ceremony which was performed by the priests. Describing the picture scene, a writer in a Paris paper says: "The king, Manuel, is unusually pious and never misses an opportunity to show this side of his character to his people. Since he has come to the throne the church has received unusual attention and the people have become accustomed to the religious and church observances at all functions, and they know that it is Manuel's desire that on all occasions where the people assemble the representatives of the church should be conspicuous."

Officials of Kansas state institutions must eat the same kind of food they provide for the inmates, or pay for the delicacies ordered for their own tables. This is the gist of an order issued by Gov. Stubbs, who says that "if the grub is not good enough for the general public it is not good enough for growing children and invalids in the institutions."

Gov. Stubbs of Kansas will not be a candidate for United States senator to succeed Charles Curtis. He desires another term in the gubernatorial chair to finish the task of putting the state on a sound business basis.

THEATRE VOYONS.

Today concludes the run of the Washington pictures at the Theatre Voyons, and it has been the most successful of any ever seen in Lowell. The life of George Washington is perfectly reproduced and many other features of a historical and patriotic nature are introduced. One of the recent films, the very latest invention in the motion picture game, and a very successful one. Within a few months all films will be fire-proof, but at present only a few are and these are secured for the Theatre Voyons, giving their patrons added protection against accident.

TARIFF MEASURE BRIGHT OUTLOOK

The Conferees Have Not Yet Reached a Final Agreement For Complete Success of Great Auto Carnival

WASHINGTON, July 21.—While no agreement was reached by the tariff conferees yesterday on coal, lumber, hides, oil, iron ore, the bottom schedule or wood woolly and paint, the conferees did reach agreement on the day, that the prospects of settling these tariff matters today were excellent.

For a time yesterday it appeared that these so-called "national issues" might be disposed of by the conferees before the end of the day's session. However, when adjournment was taken at 6 p.m. until today, it was learned that the matters under discussion were still at issue.

Should the conferees complete its work today, it would be impossible to report it before this day's session, which would be the last of the conferees' session. The tariff, and therefore, under the rules, must be decided by the conferees, adjourned yesterday until Tuesday.

Heretofore measures were put into operation yesterday in an effort to compose differences existing between the senate and house on the tariff bill and to carry out President Taft's program for a reduction of duties on raw materials.

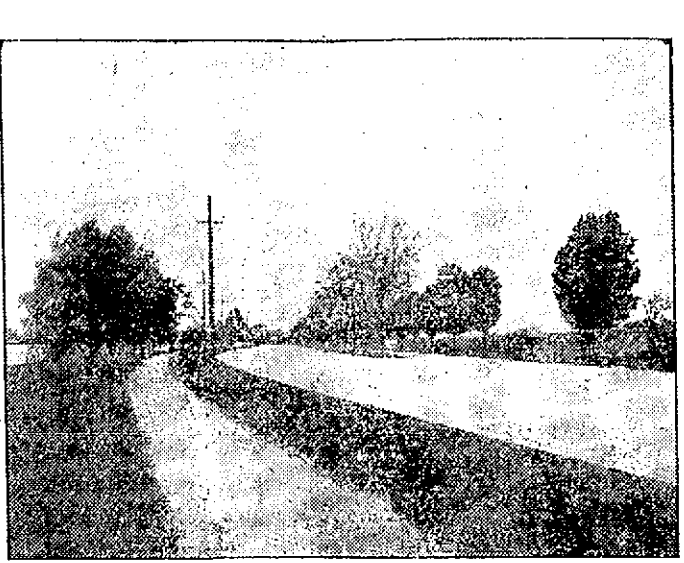

All except the actual conferees were excluded from the chamber and it was agreed that discussions leading up to a settlement of any of the subjects familiarly termed "national issues" should be regarded as confidential.

All of the conferees said last night that the feelings entertained for each other were more pleasant than they had been for many days.

When Arthur B. Shelton, clerk of the finance committee, and William K. Payne, clerk of the house ways and means committee, were excused from the conference it was understood that votes would be taken on all of the subjects in dispute before adjournment for the day.

As the question of hides is giving the committee more trouble than any other of the subjects that have claimed the attention of the president, it was discussed first. The discussion had not proceeded far before it was developed that the differences between the two houses are almost irreconcilable unless furs and shoes and other leather goods should be greatly reduced. It was then to go on to the free list.

Sen. Aldrich had reports from many western senators protesting against the removal of the duty on hides or a reduction below ten per cent. ad valorem.

START OF THE TWO-MILE STRAIGHTAWAY

Arrangements Made for Easy Access to Grounds, for Accommodation and Enjoyment of the Carnival

Arrangements for the National Automobile Carnival are progressing rapidly, and everything is running along with clocklike precision. Each and every obstacle with which the board of governors and various committees have met has been carefully ironed out to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, and in fact it is the policy of the club to deal in a fair and just manner with everyone. In many instances objections have been raised which were wholly unjustified.

The work of the different committees is rapidly bearing fruit as the various reports show and, taken as a whole, the work of perfecting the arrangements has been conducted along systematic lines which can mean nothing but success. The majority of the members of the committee are sparing neither time nor pains, and in many cases, money, in order to do their share of the work, and it must be said that it would be difficult to find a shirker on any of the committees.

At the preliminary meetings of the board of governors, it was estimated that there would be between two and three hundred thousand visitors here during the week, but the conservative body is now beginning to realize that the figures are about right. The owners and tenants of property in and about Pawtucketville, portions of the Highlands and Middlesex Village are in a better position to realize at the present time that the influx of people to this city will be very large, for these people have been besieged by out-of-town people looking for quarters in which to locate during the week.

Visitors Sequiring Quarters

People who have had occasion to be on the public streets during the past couple of weeks have probably noticed numerous automobiles bearing New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Illinois and various other state number plates on the machines and have wondered what so many out-of-town cars have been doing here. The occupants of the majority of these cars came to Lowell for the purpose of securing quarters for themselves and friends. In a good many instances the visitors have secured quarters for an entire week.

As has been previously stated, the New York and middle west people are so enthusiastic over the carnival that they have made up their mind to see the race, the cost of seeing them being a secondary matter. They also want to be assured that they will see them right—that is, they are looking after every little detail ahead, so that when they reach Lowell on the day of the race, on the Sunday before that they will know just where to go to see the race and where they will make their headquarters during their stay in the city.

The committee on accommodations, of which Edward L. Dickey is chairman, has been working very hard at Ellingwood's drug store in Merrimack street. He has received a large list of houses where rooms can be rented during the week and urges the public to be as prompt as possible in sending in a list of whatever rooms they can spare. In order to do this it is important that the person who has the rooms state their location as to floor, whether the rooms are at the front, back or side of the house, lighted by electricity or gas, and if meals will be served.

As rapidly as locations are submitted the committee systematizes the list and when applications for locations are made the applicant is given all the information at hand and he can pick out just what he wants.

The club is desirous at this time to encourage the restaurant keepers that they should take care to have a large number of transcripts for dining the fact that there will be many good served on the grounds by the different vendors, at night especially the visitors will be anxious to secure a good substantial meal.

The food and accommodation questions are things which must receive careful consideration.

Supt. Putnam of the street department, who is looking after that portion of the course within the city limits, and Mr. Tarbell, who is supervising the rest of the course, are busy on sponsible in no small measure for the advertising that the city is receiving but they will in time find that the investment which they made was a very profitable one.

Structural Work

Yesterday afternoon Architect Harry P. Graves, President Heinze and Contractor Simpson spent several hours laying out the stakes for the grandstand, and Monday morning the work of construction will be started.

The contracts for the traffic bridge over Dunbar avenue, the suspension bridge over the race course at the grandstand and the pontoon bridge have not been awarded as yet. During the early part of the week the bids will be opened and contracts awarded so that the men may get to work as early as possible.

Suspension Bridge

Some people have got the idea that the suspension bridge from the grandstand to the press stand will be for the benefit of the public, but such is not so. This structure will be about six feet wide and will be built for the accommodation of the press and race officials. They have much occasion to cross and recross the track during the course of the races but this year no one will be allowed on the track and this suspension bridge is to be erected in order to do away with the officials and representatives of the press having occasion to travel on the course. There is always more or less danger connected with automobile races but the plans laid down by the club will minimize the cause for accidents and in all probability prevent even the slightest accident.

The settlement of the little difference with Capt. Prouty of the steamboat Governor Allen removed the last obstacle to the construction of the pontoon bridge across the Merrimack river and the sanction of the war department to span the river has been granted. The contract for this structure will be awarded in a few days in order that the person who receives it can start at once to construct the 34 supports to sustain the floor work.

Easy Access to Course

The pontoon bridge solves one of the most difficult matters with which the management had to contend—the handling of the thousands of people who will flock to the course during the week of the carnival.

Last year with but one entrance it was necessary for those who attended excepting those who had automobiles, to walk nearly a mile to the Dunbar avenue turn, while those who wished to view the race from the grandstand or bleachers had to cover nearly two miles of ground. This year, however, it will be a great deal different.

The electric cars and steam railroad will carry the people to a point directly opposite the grandstand and the only walk will be that of crossing the pontoon bridge. Those who come in automobiles and other vehicles will come by the way of Vermont avenue, which is estimated that the cost of constructing the pontoon bridge will be between $5000 and $6000.

Cottages at Willow Dale

Mr. Thomas B. Huxwick, the building salesman of the Lowell Automobile Corp., knowing full well the desirability of the automobile public, had foreseen enough to lease 15 cottages at Willow Dale as well as the two upper floors of the Willow Dale pavilion and between August 15 and Sept. 15, will be able to care for in a pleasant, comfortable and homelike manner those who are anxious to secure suitable locations.

There are two ten-room cottages, one of eight rooms and another of six, seven cottages have five rooms each, four have four rooms; while there are two large halls on the second and third floors of the Willow Dale pavilion, which will accommodate a large number of people.

The houses are far enough apart so that the occupants may enjoy exclusion all week in desired and near enough to each other to create sociability among the occupants.

The rooms are large and airy, all nicely furnished. There is also the ever-welcome and enjoyable open fireplace in each cottage, in which a fire may be built in the cool of the evening.

For further particulars communicate with Thomas B. Huxwick, P. O. Box 596, Lowell, Mass.

KING WAS SPONSOR

For the Secret Bridal of Spanish Prince

PARIS, July 21.—The details surrounding the romantic marriage of Prince Alfonso of Bourbon-Orleans and Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg, which cast him in position as a prince of the royal house of Spain and his career in the Spanish army, have come into the possession of the Associated Press.

They reveal the fact that King Alfonso, instead of refusing his consent to the marriage as reported by Madrid dispatches, favored and actually advised the prince to marry secretly, gave him a leave of absence for that purpose and personally intervened by telegraph with the Hamburg ecclesiastical authority, in whose diocese the marriage was to take place, to procure a dispensation for it.

This story was obtained from the prince's own lips by friends a few days ago in Munich, where the couple are spending the honeymoon, and when it is known in Europe it is likely to create great excitement, for it did the wedding and the prince's disgrace.

Prince Alfonso and Princess Beatrice first met on the occasion of King Alfonso's marriage to Princess Ena of Battenberg in 1906. The prince was then only 20 years old. He fell desperately in love with the princess and proposed marriage; but Beatrice refused him in most decided fashion, even refusing him permission to correspond with her. Shortly after this the prince entered the military school at Toledo, and subsequently, in 1907, the couple met again at San Sebastian. Both the queen and the queen-mother, knowing of the prince's infatuation, espoused his cause and sought to induce Beatrice to relent. The princess, however, declared that she never would change her religion, but finally when she said she had no objection to rearing her children as Catholics, the queen-mother relented.

Favored by Queen Mother

"Then there is not the slightest difficulty about the union. I always said that if I had a second son he should marry a Catholic princess," she said. She added that she herself had been a Protestant.

Later, at La Granja, King Alfonso formally asked the hand of Princess Beatrice for his cousin, and when Beatrice on that occasion raised the question of religion, his mother said: "I give you my word of honor here will not be the slightest difficulty."

The prince then again proposed, and was accepted, and the couple, who had not yet apprised Beatrice's mother, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, of the engagement, were secretly married on July 15, and the civil ceremony was performed. It was not intended that the news of the marriage should be made public, but it was printed in Spain, and the royal decree of the degradation of Prince Alfonso followed.

Prince Blames Maura

The prince, in concluding his story to his friends, said:

"Maura, the head of the clerical party in Spain and because he holds a majority in parliament, forced the king to kick his own cousin out of the country and the army and to strip him of title and honors for the crime of marrying a Protestant, who is a niece of King Edward and a first cousin of the emperors of Germany and Russia."

The prince has again wired King Alfonso asking to be allowed to go to the front.

The Infanta Eulalia, the prince's mother, who is here, is almost prostrated over the ruin of her son's career, as she knew that both the Spanish and British royal families were in perfect sympathy with the marriage.

ALBERT IS ALIVE

His Family Thought He Was Dead

BANGOR, July 21.—Having, as they supposed, given John Albert a decent burial and mourned his untimely death by drowning in the west branch of the Penobscot, relatives and friends of the "departed" were astonished Wednesday when he walked into his home in Oldtown and called for steak, eggs and coffee.

The first to meet Albert was the young woman whom he is engaged to marry, and she showed her speechless. Relatives quickly gathered in, stared in blank amazement at the man who was supposed to be sleeping in a flower-decked grave for the past two weeks and then gave him joyful but wondering welcome. Albert, too, was astonished, being unable to account for all the fuss as he had heard of no drowning—least of all his own.

Now the relatives and friends are wondering who it was that they buried with so many tears and flowers in the Oldtown cemetery two weeks ago. There was a drowning in the west branch by the upsetting of a canoe and the body positively identified as that of John Albert, was brought to Oldtown and buried, while prayers for Albert's repose were offered in the churches. The police are trying to find out who it was that looked so much like John Albert.

MONOLAC

You may have a chair or settee on your porch that you can identify with Monolac. It is a Varnish in natural wood colors. Moss Green is a shade that is mostly employed on porch furniture, and it is very good too, but there are seven other shades equally as good. Monolac gives a brilliant and lasting gloss, or can be rubbed to a dead finish.

LOCAL CARS

REGISTERED BY THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Seven local automobiles were registered by the Massachusetts highway commission during the past week as follows:

1934—William N. Thompson, 1578 Gorham street. Reo touring car. 15 to 20 horse power, red.

1933—George M. Harrigan, 61 Mariboro street. Knox touring car. 25 horse power, blue.

1932—Herford N. Elliott, 25 Fairview street. Buick runabout. 24 horse power, dark green body with red gear.

1931—Mark A. Sullivan and Eleanor J. Sullivan, 535 Broadway. Buick touring car. 20 horse power, blue body with yellow gear.

There promises to be a red hot fight for representative in the 15th Middlesex district this fall. The Billers are getting into readiness for the fall campaign, and among those who have been mentioned as candidates for the nomination are ex-Secretary Richard T. Perry, Charles Wright and Selectman E. A. D. Singh.

Unique Ways of Announcing the Secret of Her Happiness.

FAVORS FOR LUNCHEON OR DINNER TABLE.

THE CURE OF FRECKLES

A Hint or Two For the Open Air Girl's Preservation of Her Complexion.

Sunburned hands may be bleached at night by the use of a paste made by mixing two teaspoonfuls of almond oil with the same quantity each of finely sifted oatmeal and powdered borax. Beat all into a paste and smear over the hands, covering them with a pair of old, loose fitting gloves.

Although the sun and wind have an injurious effect upon the complexion, they act as an excellent tonic to the hair, and the summer girl who wishes to brighten her tresses and increase their growth, will be glad to expose them as much as possible to the rays of the sun. A celebrated beauty whose hair is much admired, has said to us the secret of her treatment of it. Every day, weather permitting, she sits with her hair loosely shaken down and her back to the open window, allowing the sun and air to play upon her hair for at least a half hour, often longer, and to this she attributes its growth and the beautiful bright tints in it.

Too free a use of water has been known to cause baldness. Immersion

MRS. HALE TELLS A GOOD STORY

"While I was writing 'The Actress,' Mrs. Hobbs said recently, 'I was touring England part of the time, and I often wished I could put my various landladies of the 'diggins' in which I've lived into my book. They knew very little of Americans and expected us to talk through our noses. 'She sneaks quite nicely, doesn't she?' said one landlady to my washerwoman right before my face. Another, after I had put on the miserable rag that I, a forlorn bride, Miss Hanz, wears, said, 'Mrs. Wices of the Calabrese Palace had occasion to come to the theater bring a parcel and viewed me with much satisfaction. 'Now you are something like it,' was her statement which was too fraught with dire suggestion to require any further words."

THE LATEST IN YACHTING COSTUMES

What do you think of the girl in the striped and a short new fashion costume? It is just one of the new styles of the season, and the side of the park, having been out of the season, returned, very popular from Paris for a New York girl. It is a beautiful dress with white and black stripes, and a white collar. The skirt is of white and black stripes, and the top of the skirt is of white and black stripes. The skirt is of white and black stripes, and the top of the skirt is of white and black stripes.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

Many of the new houses are built with screens attached to the window frames, which slide down, casing out of sight in winter and be raised and lowered by automatically pressing a button.

A SEWING TIP.

the workbasket? You have no idea how useful they are to pull out the worn ends of basting cotton, particularly when the machine stitches run over the basting. Such accidents are very frequent, no matter how careful the seamstress may be. The tweezers will really prove of great assistance.

QUAINT LITTLE CLOCK

The iron, which is really of a gun metal, stands on the desk or on the metal base on which the rests when one rides, and the swings from its tiny leather strap. This would make an ideal for the girl who rides and drives and horses.

New Thoughts From Old Texts For Women Who Aspire

Don't Monopolize the Good Qualities of Your Friends.
Get Out Into the Open and Tell of the Good You See and Hear.

WOMEN who adopt the shut-in policy are like the Chinese. They hurt themselves more than they hurt any one else.

Don't hesitate to band a good thing around, whether it is a friend, a dressmaker, or an accomplishment. Put everything you give to others; you get some exchange, and if you give nothing you get nothing.

I know women who always want to keep their friends to the moderns. They like to sit in one corner and talk with one person. They frown if any one else comes to interrupt this tedious talk.

Now, that is the way to grow stupid.

If I, for instance, am fond of Mary N. I ought to want to see all of her different sides. She is admired in a certain way by me, but other women bring out different qualities in her; then, before she is at her best with several people around, not when I keep her to myself.

The Good of Mixing.

If I have only a succession of confidential conversations with the people I like I am practically getting their views of my point of view over and over again. If I want to get away from myself I must mix with several people.

There is an age when the bones and muscles grow stiff, there is also an age in which a woman's mind takes on the same characteristics. Do yourself out this handicap. If you don't keep broadening your mentally and exercising those thought muscles there will come a time when your narrowness will be beyond repair.

Read Everything—Get In the Open.

Women should read more, and think and experience, not merely just the things that appeal to them. How few and limited these subjects are, mostly to ascertain if by reading the average woman's point of view is sound.

How can we expect our sex to be fitted to grasp the problems of government when it curls itself up in a cocoon of limited thought and refuses to look at the outside world?

General information is the thing that makes a woman bright. The help for with everything she attempts to do wisely.

Get out into the open, women, if you would have clever brains. See all you can, hear all you can and remember all you can.

Every bit of information you absorb will come in handy some day. Originality is a quality that cannot be too much cultivated in the growing child. Our mode of life, our school system

Everything tends to starve and engulf this quality.

And yet without it what are we? The individual without originality is one of the crowd of commonplace people who are driven by the lash of some one else's brain.

He cannot think for himself, and consequently he can never lead, but must be driven by some one who has the gift.

You may know even as much in this world, but if you have not the art of working at your own deductions, you are more ignorant than the little street urch who can plan for himself and solve up a situation without help.

If there is one thing that makes me feel above all others it is when I find some minister's exhibits in printed matters of which he is absolutely ignorant.

A minister is a fine man in his place, but he is not fitted to settle the affairs of the world at so many dollars a column.

And, besides, it seems to me there should be enough work in a career to be enough to take up all his time.

When the great statesman's wives do the talking for him, what can he do but sit as well, and during that time the matter himself would be attending to his desk.
